City Councilmen Expend Energy on Problems, Projects

A general review of past or present problems and programs confronting the city spotlighted the agenda during Tuesday night's Circleville Council meeting.

Brush Blaze Fatal to 10 In California

SYLMAR, Calif. (AP) — A blast of flames sweeping up a steep hillside snuffed out the lives of 10 firefighters in a crew of 25 battling one of four brush fires in Angeles National Forest.

The men were veterans, known as El Cariso Hotshots from Riverside County who had specialized in combatting the hottest of forest fires in Montana, Idaho, California and Oregon.

But they lost Tuesday to that unpredictable quality of all fires — the wind behind them that kicked up before they could escape.

"It's something every firefighter thinks about—a sudden gust of wind," said U.S. Forest Service spokesman Don Porter in reporting the death toll of a blaze that swept 2,100 acres.

Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin. Nine of the 15 survivors in the crew were in critical condition at the Los Angeles County General Hospital's Burn Center.

Suppression leaders said the fire was 90 per cent contained early today.

Of the other two fires, one on Camp Pendleton Marine Corps reservation in San Diego County swept 1,900 acres. In Ventura County, a 300-acre blaze burned inland from U.S. Highway 101 through an oil tank farm without damaging structures. In the Santa Susana Mountains west of the Angeles crest fire, two blazes scorched more than 150 acres.

The inferno of flame coursing through Paolima Canyon in the Angeles crest fire was touched off by a downed power line. Hot blasts of dry desert air—a storm known locally as the Santa Ana—poured over the mountains, driving temperatures as high as 101 degrees, a record for November. Gusts reached 60 miles an hour.

No structures were damaged, but early in the day a wall of flames was halted at Olive View Hospital, where most of 600 tubercular patients were evacuated. Also evacuated were 450 patients of a veterans administration hospital in the same area.

'Baby Renters' Get Workhouse

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A Dayton couple arrested last summer for trying to "rent or sell" their three-month-old baby has been sentenced to the city workhouse.

The father, Hugh James Pavlovich, was sentenced to six months. His wife, Betty Rose, received a six-month suspended sentence.

Assistant City Prosecutor Gerald Turner said the Pavlovichs were arrested last July 15 when they offered to rent the baby to a policeman for $5.

Most of the review was presented in the way of routine reports by the various city fathers. Most of the points brought up centered on activity initiated at previous sessions.

John Jenkins, safety committee chairman, announced that one-way traffic signs will be erected along the alley just north of the Post Office as soon as the City Service Department finds the time to get the job done. The Post Office, in turn, is scheduled to move its drive-in mail box from the present Court St. site to the alley location.

The move was suggested several months ago in order to allow easier vehicle mail deposits and improve traffic conditions on heavily traveled Court St.

ROBERT TURNER, Third Ward representative, commended the Container Corporation of America for its successful effort in curbing smog conditions that occasionally existed in the southend. He also praised area residents for their efforts, and patience during the interlude required to solve the problem.

According to Turner, Container expended about $80,000 in new equipment in an extensive effort to eliminate the smog condition.

While he was on the air pollution subject, Turner said he is convinced the Pickaway Grain Co. at Main St. and Western Ave. is pursuing a sincere effort to curb flying chaff-like material that exists around corn harvest time.

According to officials at the firm, numerous pieces of equipment have been installed in moves to correct the situation. Turner said current action centers on a watering device that possibly might solve the problem.

Protect Campaigner After Phone Threats

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — George P. Mahoney, the Democratic candidate for governor, was escorted by state police as he campaigned in southern Maryland Tuesday night after receiving six threatening telephone calls, campaign aides said.

Mahoney's car was flanked by state patrol cars and his private vehicle was driven by a personal bodyguard.

Assistants at Mahoney's headquarters in Baltimore City said two threatening calls were received at his Baltimore County home, and four others at the campaign office.

The FBI is still hunting for Williams, an assistant bank manager.

Buckeye State Tastes Winter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow, with a possible accumulation of up to three inches, was falling Wednesday morning in the western central and southern sections of Ohio, with rain reported in the eastern half of the state.

The weather bureau said snow, occasionally mixed with rain in the west today and continuing as occasional light snow tonight and Thursday is in store for Ohioans. Colder weather through Thursday in the west and little change in temperature in the east also was forecast.

The snow began falling in the Columbus area shortly after 5 a. m. It accumulated on the ground but melted in the streets and on the highways. Flakes of the large variety were still falling at the morning traffic rush hour.

Kenton in Hardin County had an accumulation of two inches Wednesday morning with Columbus more than an inch, and two inches at Washington Court House. Dayton and Cincinnati each had an inch of snow by early in the morning.

The early morning temperatures hovered near the freezing mark over the western half of the state, while Cleveland reported 40 degrees, Bellaire 36 and Marietta 39.

The weather bureau said the lows tonight were to be in the mid 20s in northwestern counties to the mid 30s in the south-east.

The State Highway Department said primary and secondary roads were "snow spotted."

Area Gets First Snow Accumulation

Motorists got a little advance experience early today in driving under winter's hazardous highway conditions.

Rain, sleet and snow combined forces during early morning hours to create a rash of minor traffic accidents. Five mishaps were reported in the county area and another three within the city. All no-injury accidents, they were attributed to slippery highway conditions.

The season's first snowfall came as a surprise to most Pickaway Countians. Although rain and sleet was mixed with the snow, at least one inch of the "white stuff" was measurable. Total precipitation by 8 a. m. was measured at 0.51 of an inch.

The mercury hovered at the freezing point for most of the early hours and caused the "slushy" mixture to form a glaze on streets and highways.

FIRST snowfall of the 1965-66 season occurred Nov. 17, although there was no accumulation.

The weatherman claims the wintry blast will become worse by Thursday. A chance of snow is in the forecast for today and tonight with a low of 28-32 in the morning.

Thursday's outlook calls for occasional snow, windy and colder with a high in the mid 30s.

LBJ Promises Firm Anti-Red Stand in Asia

Alaskans Welcome Presidential Party

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—President Johnson returned to American soil Tuesday night and promised that the United States will take a firm anti-Communist stand in Asia—"and you can put it in your pipe and smoke it."

He made the statement in reference to the ambush of six American soldiers and a South Korean by North Korean troops in Korea eight hours before Johnson left Seoul for the United States. The President was told about the incident as he boarded the plane in Seoul.

In Anchorage, the traveling White House said the President asked for a complete report of the incident from the commander of the U.S. 8th Army in Korea.

Returning from a seven-nation tour, Johnson was greeted by several thousand residents of Alaska's largest city in a steady, but gentle, midnight rain.

The President told welcomes at Elmendorf Air Force Base, four miles from town, that United States is taking a stand in Asia—and Viet Nam—and "that stand is going to come true."

Although the dampened late-hour crowd was the smallest of his 31,000-mile journey around the Pacific, the President took his auto microphone in hand to urge repeatedly that his greeters "move back a yard there" and let the motorcade proceed.

Viet Nam was the theme of his impromptu speech in Anchorage, too. He said the United States won't permit the Communists to take over South Viet Nam—that if they succeeded there, "they might be in Dutch Harbor tomorrow."

Dutch Harbor is a community in Alaska's Aleutian islands.

The President said he did not believe in ignoring a fire "until it gets to your front yard."

He emphasized again that his aim to get Communist North Viet Nam to the negotiating table, "and the sooner they realize it, the better they'll be."

Johnson landed in Alaska's biggest city shortly before midnight, following a non-stop flight from the South Korean capital of Seoul.

The presidential jet set down at Elmendorf Air Force Base, five miles out of the city, at 11:36 p.m. AST — 4:36 a.m. EST.

In remarks prepared for an early morning gathering in Anchorage, Johnson summed up his arduous trip, saying:

Viet Nam Forces To Top 400,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources predict U.S. manpower in South Viet Nam will surge to 382,000 by the end of December and move past the 400,000 mark in January.

Plans for this expansion from the 336,000 troops now in the Southeast Asian country are considered all but definite.

Beyond early 1967, however, the view is less clear and the Pentagon is in the process of calculating what it believes future military needs will be.

Sources said latest additions to the war will likely be elements of the 9th Infantry Division which was activated last year and has been training for duty since January.

The 9th, with a strength of about 17,000, is virtually combat ready. In addition to it, a number of support-type units, with thousands of troops have been tapped for duty.

When and where the infantry division will deploy is secret for security reasons. There have been reports it would be sent to South Viet Nam's rice-rich delta region, now defended largely by South Vietnamese troops.

Military officials say the Pentagon is at a crossroads in mapping out the course of the war beyond early 1967. One reason: This is budget-planning time, a period when the services lay out their monetary needs.

Moreover, the Saigon command has recommended a buildup to at least a half-million men, while at home Congressional predictions on the required forces have gone as high as 600,000.

And at least one ranking military officer believes 750,000 men will be needed to overcome the Communists both on the field and in the hamlets where the so-called "other war" for the support of the Vietnamese is being waged.

Agency Shift Raises Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post says negotiations are under way to shift programs aimed at creating jobs for the poor from the antipoverty agency to the Labor Department.

The paper quoted Bertrand M. Harding deputy director of the Office of Economic Opportunity as saying the move is "no power play on anyone's part," and would not jeopardize the anti-poverty agency.

Other unidentified OEO officials, said the Post, see the proposal as leading to dismemberment of OEO.

The Labor Department now administers some antipoverty programs such as the Neighborhood Youth Corps. A switch of more programs was seen by the Post as blunting some thought that the new Department of Housing and Urban Development would eventually become chief antipoverty agency.

Border Clash Termed Gravest In 13 Years

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korean troops ambushed and killed six American soldiers and one South Korean below the armistice line before dawn today while President and Mrs. Johnson slept 30 miles away.

The incident was the gravest involving Americans since the Korean War ended in 1953. It occurred eight hours before Johnson left Korea for the United States.

In Anchorage, Alaska, the traveling White House said Johnson has asked for a complete report on the incident from Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, commander of the U.S. 8th Army in Korea and of the United Nations Command there. The President met with Bonesteel Tuesday when he visited American and South Korean troops during his stay in South Korea.

There was one survivor, an American, from the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division patrol. Wounded by a grenade but reported in good condition, he said the attackers wore North Korean army uniforms.

The Communists escaped and there was no indication that any were wounded.

A spokesman for the U.S. 8th Army said the attack occurred under a full moon and the firing was heard at the patrol's base camp. A motorized patrol was sent out to investigate and found the bodies and the wounded man.

The spokesman said there was evidence that the patrol returned the Communist fire when it was ambushed. He described the clash as "quite a good engagement."

The United Nations Command announced that the eight-man patrol was jumped by the Communists about 800 yards south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

Will Ignore U.N., Says South Africa

EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP) — Prime Minister John Vorster called the U.N. resolution on South-West Africa illegal and said Tuesday night that South Africa would continue to administer the territory.

Vorster's statement was his government's first reaction to the U.N. General Assembly's decision to end South Africa's League of Nations mandate over the territory and put it under U.N. administration. Vorster said the U.N. resolution "simply had no foundation in international law."

Four Rocket Launches Start Thursday at Cape

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 12 astronauts have a full day of rehearsal today in preparation of their four-day rendezvous and spacewalk mission which is to conclude the Gemini program.

Their departure from the earth next Wednesday will climax a busy seven-day period during which four space rockets are to be launched from Cape Kennedy.

The fireworks start Thursday with the first unmanned launching in the Air Force's Manned Orbiting Laboratory program, to be followed Sunday by a Lunar Orbiter moon shot.

An Atlas is to hurl an Agena target satellite into orbit at 2:16 p.m. (EST) next Wednesday to start the Gemini 12 doubleheader. Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. are to start the pursuit of the Agena atop a Titan 2 rocket at 3:55 p.m.

At 7 a.m. (EST) Thursday the Air Force is to fire its huge Titan 3 rocket on a multiple assignment flight. The rocket first is to hurl a unmanned Gemini capsule 5,000 miles down range to a recovery zone in a test of the heat shield for the Manned Orbiting Laboratory military man-in-space program.

The Titan 3 upper stage is to pitch up and hurl a 38-foot canister into orbit with a bundle of scientific and engineering experiments. Three other satellites are to be ejected from the canister. Two are to be used in a satellite-to-satellite communications test and the third will carry a classified Air Force payload.

A 6:06 p.m. Sunday an Atlas Agena rocket is to propel the Lunar Orbiter 2 spacecraft toward an orbit about the moon. The craft is to take closeup photographs of nine potential astronaut landing areas.

School Board Outlines Why Operating Levy Needed

Circleville City School District voters will decide a 3.5 mill levy when they go to the polls on Tuesday.

In announcing the levy earlier this summer, the board of education noted that Circleville city schools, like most other districts in Ohio, find themselves in need of additional operating funds for 1967.

There are numerous reasons for the need, board members noted. Considered foremost is the one for a teacher salary schedule that will enable the city system to attract and retain high caliber personnel. Coupled with this need is the necessity of annually adding personnel to keep pace with a growing school population, officials said.

The amount of local millage for current operating expenses has not increased since 1961. Consequently this has affected the relative position with other districts as it relates to total dollars for education, the board pointed out.

IN EXPLAINING the need, the board members said that during some of the years since 1961, it has been able to retain a fairly good position due to increased valuation which provided additional funds and just about matched the need.

However, in 1964, the amount collected from local sources decreased $8,000. Coupled with the anticipation of an approximate $60,000 annual increase in expenses this placed the board $68,000 behind a normal year.

Members explain that the local valuation has leveled off to the point where income from increased real estate, public utilities and personal property does not provide the annual amount necessary to meet built-in increased costs. Circleville schools should maintain a balance of $100,000 in order to meet payrolls during January and February so that borrowing

Strikes Keep Four Ohio Papers Idle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Strikes kept four newspapers in two major Ohio cities shut down today.

About 2,000 employees of Dayton and Toledo newspapers were idle because of walkouts by the pressmen's union in Dayton and the printers, newspaper guild and stereotypers in Toledo.

The Dayton strike began Tuesday, when Local 56 of the Dayton Newspaper Printers and Pressmen's Union, representing 90 employees, walked out before the first edition of the afternoon Daily News. The strike, against Dayton Newspapers, Inc., idled both the News, with circulation of 150,000, and the morning Journal Herald, with circulation of 102,000.

News and editorial employees will continue to gather news, said Robert Snyder, general manager of Dayton Newspapers.

Toledo now is in its second week without newspapers since a strike Oct. 24 halted publication of the Blade and morning Times with combined circulations of 211,000.

The paper quoted Bertrand M. Harding deputy director of the Office of Economic Opportunity as saying the move is "no power play on anyone's part," and would not jeopardize the anti-poverty agency.

Other unidentified OEO officials, said the Post, see the proposal as leading to dismemberment of OEO.

The Labor Department now administers some antipoverity programs such as the Neighborhood Youth Corps. A switch of more programs was seen by the Post as blunting some thought that the new Department of Housing and Urban Development would eventually become chief antipoverity agency.

Border Clash Termed Gravest In 13 Years

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korean troops ambushed and killed six American soldiers and one South Korean below the armistice line before dawn today while President and Mrs. Johnson slept 30 miles away.

The incident was the gravest involving Americans since the Korean War ended in 1953. It occurred eight hours before Johnson left Korea for the United States.

In Anchorage, Alaska, the traveling White House said Johnson has asked for a complete report on the incident from Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, commander of the U.S. 8th Army in Korea and of the United Nations Command there. The President met with Bonesteel Tuesday when he visited American and South Korean troops during his stay in South Korea.

There was one survivor, an American, from the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division patrol. Wounded by a grenade but reported in good condition, he said the attackers wore North Korean army uniforms.

The Communists escaped and there was no indication that any were wounded.

A spokesman for the U.S. 8th Army said the attack occurred under a full moon and the firing was heard at the patrol's base camp. A motorized patrol was sent out to investigate and found the bodies and the wounded man.

The spokesman said there was evidence that the patrol returned the Communist fire when it was ambushed. He described the clash as "quite a good engagement."

The United Nations Command announced that the eight-man patrol was jumped by the Communists about 800 yards south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

Will Ignore U.N., Says South Africa

EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP) — Prime Minister John Vorster called the U.N. resolution on South-West Africa illegal and said Tuesday night that South Africa would continue to administer the territory.

Vorster's statement was his government's first reaction to the U.N. General Assembly's decision to end South Africa's League of Nations mandate over the territory and put it under U.N. administration. Vorster said the U.N. resolution "simply had no foundation in international law."

Four Rocket Launches Start Thursday at Cape

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 12 astronauts have a full day of rehearsal today in preparation of their four-day rendezvous and spacewalk mission which is to conclude the Gemini program.

Their departure from the earth next Wednesday will climax a busy seven-day period during which four space rockets are to be launched from Cape Kennedy.

The fireworks start Thursday with the first unmanned launching in the Air Force's Manned Orbiting Laboratory program, to be followed Sunday by a Lunar Orbiter moon shot.

An Atlas is to hurl an Agena target satellite into orbit at 2:16 p.m. (EST) next Wednesday to start the Gemini 12 doubleheader. Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. are to start the pursuit of the Agena atop a Titan 2 rocket at 3:55 p.m.

At 7 a.m. (EST) Thursday the Air Force is to fire its huge Titan 3 rocket on a multiple assignment flight. The rocket first is to hurl an unmanned Gemini capsule 5,000 miles down range to a recovery zone in a test of the heat shield for the Manned Orbiting Laboratory military man-in-space program.

The Titan 3 upper stage is to pitch up and hurl a 38-foot canister into orbit with a bundle of scientific and engineering experiments. Three other satellites are to be ejected from the canister. Two are to be used in a satellite-to-satellite communications test and the third will carry a classified Air Force payload.

School Board Outlines Why Operating Levy Needed

Circleville City School District voters will decide a 3.5 mill levy when they go to the polls on Tuesday.

In announcing the levy earlier this summer, the board of education noted that Circleville city schools, like most other districts in Ohio, find themselves in need of additional operating funds for 1967.

There are numerous reasons for the need, board members noted. Considered foremost is the one for a teacher salary schedule that will enable the city system to attract and retain high caliber personnel. Coupled with this need is the necessity of annually adding personnel to keep pace with a growing school population, officials said.

The amount of local millage for current operating expenses has not increased since 1961. Consequently this has affected the relative position with other districts as it relates to total dollars for education, the board pointed out.

IN EXPLAINING the need, the board members said that during some of the years since 1961, it has been able to retain a fairly good position due to increased valuation which provided additional funds and just about matched the need.

However, in 1964, the amount collected from local sources decreased $8,900. Coupled with the anticipation of an approximate $60,000 annual increase in expenses this placed the board $68,000 behind a normal year.

Members explain that the local valuation has leveled off to the point where income from increased real estate, public utilities and personal property does not provide the annual amount necessary to meet built-in increased costs. Circleville schools should maintain a balance of $100,000 in order to meet payrolls during January and February so that borrowing (Continued on Page 14)

Pathologist Describes Sheppard Death Weapon

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A pathologist testified today that Marilyn Sheppard was beaten to death with an instrument that had "an edge that was blunt with a variety of striking surfaces."

Samuel H. Sheppard's defense lawyer at his trial for second degree murder in his first wife's slaying has suggested that the death weapon may have been a flashlight in the hands of someone familiar to the victim.

Dr. Lester Adelson, Cuyahoga County pathologist, demonstrated the death wounds with color pictures of Mrs. Sheppard's head, taken a few hours after her death July 4, 1954.

Sheppard, 42, followed the gruesome presentation intently, as did the jury. In a rear spectator's row, however, the defendant's second wife, Ariane Tebbenjohanns Sheppard, averted her gaze and bowed her head.

In his cross-examination, defense attorney F. Lee Bailey spent most of his time seeking an opinion from Dr. Adelson to the type of weapon that had caused the wounds.

Dr. Adelson said his description of a blunt instrument with a variety of striking surfaces was arrived at "because the injuries vary so much in their dimensions and their characteristics."

Under direct examination by assistant prosecutor Leo M. Spellacy, Dr. Adelson told of a blood test for alcohol performed on the victim after the autopsy. He testified:

"The blood alcohol content of Marilyn Sheppard when she died was zero. She was absolutely sober."

Dr. Adelson also said he thought most of the wounds inflicted on the victim were made with the same instrument, but that bruises about her eyes could have been caused by a fist.

Boycotters Extend Fight To Promotion Gimmicks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Whether it was the alleged high price of fancy cereals or a legal point in supermarket promotions, little seemed to be escaping the housewife's gimlet eye today in the growing nationwide price protest movement.

Mrs. Armand P. Herreras announced plans in Williamsport, N.Y., for an indefinite boycott against what she called fancy cereals — sugar-coated or specially shaped — until the "price comes down."

Mrs. Herreras, one of the organizers of the "Housewives For Lower Food Prices" in the Buffalo suburb, also said the group would begin today a one-week boycott of area supermarkets offering "anything free as promotional gimmicks."

The "We've Had It Club" members in Atlanta, Ga., called on State Atty. Gen. Arthur Bolton to investigate supermarket games and sweepstakes.

Mrs. Bobby Tucker, spokeswoman for the group, reported Bolton's office said the probe would probably be conducted.

The group concentrated on getting out more pickets next weekend. "If they thought last week was big, wait'll they see it this week," Mrs. Tucker said.

Some 400 leaders in the Atlanta movement were to meet tonight to consider lifting the boycott on one chain — A&P. Mrs. Tucker said a study showed its prices about 15 per cent less than other chains.

In Warwick, R.I., a group of women has decided on a series of "sneak attacks." They refused to name the stores or chains targeted for pickets after holding a strategy meeting Tuesday night.

Muny Judge Hears Two HTV Cases

Two habitual traffic violators had their licenses suspended for six months Tuesday by Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

Cited were Lester Johnson, 165 W. Main St., who had twice been convicted this year of driving while his license was suspended, and Lynn Tracy, 407 S. Court, who has been convicted of reckless operation and of five speeding charges since April of 1955.

Lawrence Allen, 54, Ironton, was fined $30 and costs for speeding 85 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone. Judge Lamb suspended $15 of the fine.

Karl Nelson Koons, 48, Ashland and C. J. Ward, 40, Bremen, each was fined $10 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Marvin Richards, 42, Ashville, $20 and costs for speeding 76 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

William Shores, 48, Columbus; $10 and costs for speeding 58 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

John Red, Route 1, told the Circleville Police Department a battery was taken from his car recently when it was parked at 145 W. High St.

Injured Motorist In 'Fair' Condition

Jack M. Coslow, Ashville, who sustained severe scalp and facial lacerations as the result of an accident, is listed in "fair" condition in Mercy Hospital, Columbus.

The accident occurred at 12:30 a. m. Sunday. Deputy Charles Jones was the investigating officer for the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Motorist Bumps Nose in Mishap

Frank E. Rorer, 77, Laurelville, suffered a bump on the nose at 9:38 a. m. today when the auto he was driving skidded into the rear of one operated by Edward Thompson Jr., 22, Route 1.

Thompson was stopped at the traffic signal at Main and Washington Sts.

City police investigated two other accidents which were attributed to slippery streets. No one was injured.

Passenger Injured

Ruth Mahoney, injured slightly in a car-truck collision at the Red River Bridge, was a passenger in the truck, not in the auto driven by Carl Clifford as reported in yesterday's edition of The Herald.

Civil Suit Doesn't Involve Chicken Feed — Just Turkey

A civil suit involving the cost of feed that produced 215,680 pounds of turkey was settled (almost) in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Tuesday.

Judge William Ammer directed a $9,635.91 verdict in favor of the Pickaway Grain Co., plaintiff in the action. The verdict was directed against one of the defendants, Allen Hoover of Route 3.

However, a second defendant, Roger Stephenson of Warren, O., who was dismissed as a party defendant in the suit, is now the defendant of a case filed Tuesday by Hoover's attorneys, Harry Margulis and Stephen Gussler.

Jurors, hearing the case which got under way on Monday, were dismissed after the judge directed the verdict.

The "turkey case," as it has been termed by court officials, came as the result of an agreement between Hoover and Stephenson in April of 1964, according to case records. Hoover was to raise 10,000 turkeys for Stephenson and the $9,635.91 was charged to the Hoover Turkey Farm by Pickaway Grain for turkey rations.

According to Hoover's new petition, Stephenson is liable for the overdue bill in addition to a fee of $6,470.40 the Warren resident owes for feeding and caring for the turkeys.

Hoover claims he kept his end of the bargain by delivering to Stephenson 9,887 turkeys having a total weight of 215,680 pounds.

Pickaway Grain's counsel for the lawsuit was the firm of Crist, Davis and Weldon, with Emmitt Crist handling the courtroom proceedings. Robert Huffer and Roger Bennington were Stephenson's attorneys.

Heavy Legislative Docket Cleared by City Council

A heavy legislative docket was cleared during Tuesday night's regular meeting of Circleville Council.

No less than eight ordinances and three resolutions were enacted by the time the session was adjourned at about 9:30. All legislative matters submitted were approved.

One of the resolutions authorized the erection of street lights at one location on Lewis Road and at one site on Sunset Drive.

The other two resolutions called for the release of performance bonds previously posted by the Modern Rental and Investment Co. of Columbus in regard to Ridgewood Subdivision sections and the Knollwood Development Co. for subdivision sections in Garden City.

THE BONDS are posted as a guarantee that certain required utilities such as curbs and gutters and sidewalks will be erected as part of the development projects. Usual procedure calls for their release after the facilities are satisfactorily completed.

Seven of the ordinances concerned the appropriation or transfer of money. One of them authorized $2,193-61 for interest due on the Sanitary Sewer District No. 2 note for the period April 27 to Nov. 2, 1966.

The interest payment will mark the end of a long drawn-out financial burden to the city, created when a law suit was filed against the sewer district project several years ago. The matter was finally settled this summer. Other money measures were:

The appropriation of $520 for the City Service Department clerk hire account; appropriation of $1,200 for the legal forms and other office supplies account of Municipal Court; appropriation of $800 for the police department maintenance and equipment account.

Ordinances authorizing the transfer of money were: $1,037 from the contingent account to the public employees retirement system account; $123.70 from

to speed up the city's application for government assistance in establishing a comprehensive development plan. The Circleville program already has been approved at both the state and federal level. However, a long delay has been attributed to a lack of federal funds due to a cutback in government spending.

Councilmen were informed that negotiations are still under way with property owners Robert Elsea and Ralph Meinfelder concerning agreements on the Northend Storm Sewer project. According to E. R. Bennett, serving as a mediator, four other owners have signed agreements.

COUNCILMAN Jenkins, concerned over a present balance of more than $24,000 in the street construction maintenance and repair fund, raised the question why more improvement work was not under taken this year. The reply was that perhaps four more streets are due for repair yet this month, weather permitting. It also was noted that not all outstanding street bills have been paid.

In other business, the solos set a meeting for next Tuesday to study the merits of establishing a community improvement corporation. Earl Boen, E. Main St., is one of the project sponsors.

Kentucky Man To Appear in Court

Robert Glenn Hammonds, 32, Mannington, Ky., will be charged with grand larceny and breaking and entering an uninhabited dwelling, Circleville Police announced today.

Hammonds was apprehended by police in connection with the theft of an estimated $70 worth of watches and cigarette lighters from a trailer parked at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

The trailer is the property of Thomas Joyland Shows. The entry was discovered by Art Malden, fairgrounds custodian.

sion meets in the demilitarized zone.

The U. N. Command said the attack occurred at 3:15 a.m. President Johnson gave no indication that he was aware of it when he left Kimpo Airfield 15 miles away. The ambush was not announced until five hours after the President took off.

The U. N. Command said: "Expended shell casings in the area from which the ambush was launched were Communist-made."

"Search patrols discovered the wounded man and the slain soldiers."

"All of the dead and wounded were assigned to the 2nd Infantry Division. Their identities will be released after notification of next of kin."

It was the most serious of a series of North Korean attacks that began after Johnson's trip to Korea was announced Oct. 6. The U.N. Command demanded an immediate meeting of the Military Armistice Commission to take up the ambush and "other serious violations of the armistice agreement."

No Americans were involved in 10 previous incidents that began along the armistice line on Oct. 15. Several South Korean soldiers were killed.

The recent increase in North Korean attacks along the armistice line led some observers in Seoul to think the Communists were trying to apply pressure on the South Koreans to resist American requests for more troops in Viet Nam. South Korea now has approximately 45,000 troops fighting alongside U.S. forces there.

the most important and the most historic."

Recalling that he had said on departing Washington that he expected no miracles at the Manila conference of Viet Nam allies, Johnson said that the only message heard yet from the Communists has been "the voice of renewed hostility."

He said that "until that voice changes — until the Communists realize they cannot win this war — there will be no miracle of peace in Viet Nam."

With all this, he said, Manila did produce "a meeting of mind and spirit" that may yet have great significance.

After the meeting, Johnson is to take off for a nontop flight to Washington, where his arrival at Dulles International Airport at 8 p.m. EST will be televised live across the nation.

Eight hours before Johnson left Seoul, North Korean troops ambushed a patrol from the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division 800 yards south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea, killed six Americans and a South Korean soldier and wounded the other American in the patrol. The Communist troops escaped.

The North Korean attack was announced five hours after the President took off for Alaska. It was the most serious of a series of attacks made by the North Koreans along the armistice line since Johnson's trip to Korea was announced Oct. 6. Some observers in Seoul thought the Communists might be trying to put pressure on the South Koreans to resist any American requests for more troops for Viet Nam.

Winding up his 17-day, seven nation sweep around the rim of the Pacific, the U.S. chief executive made a parting pledge to maintain America's military strength in South Korea against Communist China and North Korea.

The President looked fresh and rested despite the strains of the tiring trip. He said an ebullient farewell at the close of his three-day state visit to South Korea, then climbed into his special plane, Air Force One, with Mrs. Johnson. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and White House officials.

Before leaving Korea Johnson and President Chung Hee Park signed a farewell communique which promised to keep U.S. forces in Korea at their present level of 30,000, laid a wreath at the National Assembly, and made brief goodby remarks at the airport where a girls' chorus sang "The Yellow Rose of Texas" in Korea.

In his talk to the Korean Assembly — the last major pronouncement of the Asian trip — Johnson said he had "listened and learned much on this trip" "the solid agreement we found among allies at the Manila conference." But he added that "difficult days lie ahead of us in Viet Nam" and that peace will not come there until the Communists change their mind about fighting.

In 16 days, Johnson has traveled 25,000 miles to seven countries, the state of Hawaii and American Samoa, in the South Seas.

Copter Crash On Carrier Kills 3 Men

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — A helicopter crash on the carrier Guadalcanal left the pilot and crewman uninjured, but sent death-dealing rotor blade fragments shooting across the flight deck of the busy ship.

Twenty-two men were cut down Tuesday by pieces of the 27-foot aluminum blade, some of them more than 100 yards from the crash site. Three men were killed and 19 injured, one critically.

One of the dead was a civilian employee, Manning McCutchen, 44, of Suffolk, a father of four who had come up on the flight deck to watch the helicopter take off. He was struck as he stood near the carrier's control island. The other two victims were members of the Guadalcanal's flight deck crew.

Twelve of the injured were hospitalized, including a civilian workman struck while aboard the carrier Forrestal, berthed across the pier from the Guadalcanal at the Norfolk Naval Shipyard.

Marine Corps Maj. William L. Whelan of Virginia Beach, the helicopter pilot, and his crewman, Aviation Machinists Mate I.C. David K. Todd of Shell Lake, Wis., were shaken up but not hurt.

Pathologist Describes Sheppard Death Weapon

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A pathologist testified today that Marilyn Sheppard was beaten to death with an instrument that had "an edge that was blunt with a variety of striking surfaces."

Samuel H. Sheppard's defense lawyer at his trial for second degree murder in his first wife's slaying has suggested that the death weapon may have been a flashlight in the hands of someone familiar to the victim.

Dr. Lester Adelson, Cuyahoga County pathologist, demonstrated the death wounds with color pictures of Mrs. Sheppard's head, taken a few hours after her death July 4, 1954.

Sheppard, 42, followed the gruesome presentation intently, as did the jury. In a rear spectator's row, however, the defendant's second wife, Ariane Tebbenjohanns Sheppard, averted her gaze and bowed her head.

In his cross-examination, defense attorney F. Lee Bailey spent most of his time seeking an opinion from Dr. Adelson to the type of weapon that had caused the wounds.

Dr. Adelson said his description of a blunt instrument with a variety of striking surfaces was arrived at "because the injuries vary so much in their dimensions and their characteristics."

Under direct examination by assistant prosecutor Leo M. Spellacy, Dr. Adelson told of a blood test for alcohol performed on the victim after the autopsy. He testified:

"The blood alcohol content of Marilyn Sheppard when she died was zero. She was absolutely sober."

Dr. Adelson also said he thought most of the wounds inflicted on the victim were made with the same instrument, but that bruises about her eyes could have been caused by a fist.

Muny Judge Hears Two HTV Cases

Two habitual traffic violators had their licenses suspended for six months Tuesday by Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

Cited were Lester Johnson, 163 W. Main St., who had twice been convicted this year of driving while his license was suspended, and Lynn Tracy, 407 S. Court, who has been convicted of reckless operation and of five speeding charges since April of 1965.

Lawrence Allen, 54, Ironton, was fined $50 and costs for speeding 85 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone. Judge Lamb suspended $15 of the fine.

Karl Nelson Koons, 48, Ashland and C. J. Ward, 40, Bremen, each was fined $10 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Marvin Richards, 42, Ashville; $20 and costs for speeding 76 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

William Shores, 48, Columbus; $10 and costs for speeding 58 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Boycotters Extend Fight To Promotion Gimmicks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Whether it was the alleged high price of fancy cereals or a legal point in supermarket promotions, little seemed to be escaping the housewife's gimlet eye today in the growing nationwide price protest movement.

Mrs. Armand P. Herreras announced plans in Williamsport, N.Y., for an indefinite boycott against what she called fancy cereals—sugar-coated or specially shaped—until the "price comes down."

Mrs. Herreras, one of the organizers of the "Housewives For Lower Food Prices" in the Buffalo suburb, also said the group would begin today a one-week boycott of area supermarkets offering "anything free as promotional gimmicks."

The "We've Had It Club" members in Atlanta, Ga., called on State Atty. Gen. Arthur Bolton to investigate supermarket games and sweepstakes.

Mrs. Bobby Tucker, spokesman for the group, reported Bolton's office said the probe would probably be conducted.

The group concentrated on getting out more pickets next weekend. "If they thought last week was big, wait'll they see it this week," Mrs. Tucker said.

Some 400 leaders in the Atlanta movement were to meet tonight to consider lifting the boycott on one chain—A&P. Mrs. Tucker said a study showed its prices about 15 per cent less than other chains.

In Warwick, R.I., a group of women has decided on a series of "sneak attacks." They refused to name the stores or chains targeted for pickets after holding a strategy meeting Tuesday night.

Motorist Bumps Nose in Mishap

Frank E. Rorer, 77, Laurelville, suffered a bump on the nose at 9:38 a. m. today when the auto he was driving skidded into the rear of one operated by Edward Thompson Jr., 22, Route 1.

Thompson was stopped at the traffic signal at Main and Washington Sts. City police investigated two other accidents which were attributed to slippery streets. No one was injured.

Injured Motorist In 'Fair' Condition

Jack M. Costlow, Ashville, who sustained severe scalp and facial lacerations as the result of an accident, is listed in "fair" condition in Mercy Hospital, Columbus.

The accident occurred at 12:30 a. m. Sunday. Deputy Charles Jones was the investigating officer for the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Battery Stolen

John Red, Route 1, told the Circleville Police Department a battery was taken from his car recently when it was parked at 145 W. High St.

They said they wanted the element of surprise. The same group went to picket an Almac store last Saturday and found the manager waiting with coffee, doughnuts and soft drinks beneath a banner reading "Welcome Inflation Fighters."

Globe, Ariz., housewives are joining the movement to protest that prices in their city are higher than those in Phoenix, 90 miles away.

"In Phoenix, I can get three cans of baby food for 23 cents," Peggy Lehman said. "Here the same three cans cost 33 cents."

About 25 housewives met Tuesday in Newburgh, N.Y., to organize what they called a "silent picket"—that is, they plan to boycott supermarkets and chain stores beginning next Monday unless prices are cut 20 per cent by then. An organizer, Mrs. Thomas Popowick of Cornwall, N.Y., said they intend to carry the boycott into the Christmas season, if necessary.

to speed up the city's application for government assistance in establishing a comprehensive development plan. The Circleville program already has been approved at both the state and federal level. However, a long delay has been attributed to a lack of federal funds due to a cutback in government spending.

Councilmen were informed that negotiations are still under way with property owners Robert Elsea and Ralph Meinfelder concerning agreements on the Northend Storm Sewer project. According to E. R. Bennett, serving as a mediator, four other owners have signed agreements.

COUNCILMAN Jenkins, concerned over a present balance of more than $24,000 in the street construction maintenance and repair fund, raised the question why more improvement work was not under taken this year. The reply was that perhaps four more streets are due for repair yet this month, weather permitting. It also was noted that not all outstanding street bills have been paid.

In other business, the council set a meeting for next Tuesday to study the merits of establishing a community improvement corporation. Earl Boen, E. Main St., is one of the project sponsors.

Kentucky Man To Appear in Court

Robert Glenn Hammonds, 32, Mannington, Ky., will be charged with grand larceny and breaking and entering an uninhabited dwelling, Circleville Police announced today.

Hammonds was apprehended by police in connection with the theft of an estimated $70 worth of watches and cigarette lighters from a trailer parked at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

The trailer is the property of Thomas Joyland Shows. The entry was discovered by Art Maiden, fairgrounds custodian.

Civil Suit Doesn't Involve Chicken Feed — Just Turkey

A civil suit involving the cost of feed that produced 215,880 pounds of turkey was settled (almost) in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Tuesday.

Judge William Ammer directed a $9,635.91 verdict in favor of the Pickaway Grain Co., plaintiff in the action. The verdict was directed against one of the defendants, Allen Hoover of Route 3.

However, a second defendant, Roger Stephenson of Warren, O., who was dismissed as a party defendant in the suit, is now the defendant of a case filed Tuesday by Hoover's attorneys, Harry Margulis and Stephen Gussler.

Jurors, hearing the case which got under way on Monday, were dismissed after the judge directed the verdict.

The "turkey case," as it has been termed by court officials, came as the result of an agreement between Hoover and Stephenson in April of 1964, according to case records. Hoover was to raise 10,600 turkeys for Stephenson and the $9,635.91 was charged to the Hoover Turkey Farm by Pickaway Grain for turkey rations.

According to Hoover's new petition, Stephenson is liable for the overdue bill in addition to a fee of $6,470.40 the Warren resident owes for feeding and caring for the turkeys.

Hoover claims he kept his end of the bargain by delivering to Stephenson 9,587 turkeys having a total weight of 215,880 pounds.

Pickaway Grain's counsel for the lawsuit was the firm of Crist, Davis and Weldon, with Emmitt Crist handling the courtroom proceedings. Robert Huffer and Roger Bennington were Stephenson's attorneys.

Heavy Legislative Docket Cleared by City Council

A heavy legislative docket was cleared during Tuesday night's regular meeting of Circleville Council.

No less than eight ordinances and three resolutions were enacted by the time the session was adjourned at about 9:30. All legislative matters submitted were approved.

One of the resolutions authorized the erection of street lights at one location on Lewis Road and at one site on Sunset Drive.

The other two resolutions called for the release of performance bonds previously posted by the Modern Rental and Investment Co. of Columbus in regard to Ridgewood Subdivision sections and the Knollwood Development Co. for subdivision sections in Garden City.

THE BONDS are posted as a guarantee that certain required utilities such as curbs and gutters and sidewalks will be erected as part of the development projects. Usual procedure calls for their release after the facilities are satisfactorily completed.

Seven of the ordinances concerned the appropriation or transfer of money. One of them authorized $2,193.61 for interest due on the Sanitary Sewer District No. 2 note for the period April 27 to Nov. 2, 1966.

The interest payment will mark the end of a long drawn-out financial burden to the city, created when a law suit was filed against the sewer district project several years ago. The matter was finally settled this summer. Other money measures were:

The appropriation of $520 for the City Service Department clerk hire account; appropriation of $1,200 for the legal forms and other office supplies account of Municipal Court; appropriation of $800 for the police department maintenance and equipment account.

Ordinances authorizing the transfer of money were: $1,037 from the contingent account to the public employees retirement system account; $123.70 from the workmen's compensation account of the street construction, maintenance and repair fund to the public employees retirement system account; $100 from the miscellaneous account of the street construction, maintenance and repair fund to the traffic signs and markers account.

A final ordinance authorized the safety director to advertise for bids to furnish gasoline and oil to the police department for fiscal year 1967.

sion meets in the demilitarized zone.

The U. N. Command said the attack occurred at 3:15 a. m. President Johnson gave no indication that he was aware of it when he left Kimpo Airfield 15 miles away. The ambush was not announced until five hours after the Communist took off.

The U. N. Command announcement said:

"Expended shell casings in the area from which the ambush was launched were Communist-made.

"Search patrols discovered the wounded man and the slain soldiers.

"All of the dead and wounded were assigned to the 2nd Infantry Division. Their identities will be released after notification of next of kin."

It was the most serious of a series of North Korean attacks that began after Johnson's trip to Korea was announced Oct. 6. The U. N. Command demanded an immediate meeting of the Military Armistice Commission to take up the ambush and "other serious violations of the armistice agreement."

No Americans were involved in 10 previous incidents that began along the armistice line on Oct. 15. Several South Korean soldiers were killed.

The recent increase in North Korean attacks along the armistice line led some observers in Seoul to think the Communists were trying to apply pressure on the South Koreans to resist American requests for more troops in Viet Nam. South Korea now has approximately 45,000 troops fighting alongside U.S. forces there.

the most important and the most historic."

Recalling that he had said on departing Washington that he expected no miracles at the Manila conference of Viet Nam allies, Johnson said that the only message heard yet from the Communists has been "the voice of renewed hostility."

He said that "until that voice changes—until the Communists realize they cannot win this war—there will be no miracle of peace in Viet Nam."

With all this, he said, Manila did produce "a meeting of mind and spirit" that may yet have great significance.

After the meeting, Johnson is to take off for a nontop flight to Washington, where his arrival at Dulles International Airport at 8 p. m. EST will be televised live across the nation.

Eight hours before Johnson left Seoul, North Korean troops ambushed a patrol from the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division 800 yards south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea, killed six Americans and a South Korean soldier and wounded the other American in the patrol. The Communist troops escaped.

The North Korean attack was announced five hours after the President took off for Alaska. It was the most serious of a series of attacks made by the North Koreans along the armistice line since Johnson's trip to Korea was announced Oct. 6. Some observers in Seoul thought the Communists might be trying to put pressure on the South Koreans to resist any American requests for more troops for Viet Nam.

Winding up his 17-day, seven nation sweep around the rim of the Pacific, the U.S. chief executive made a parting pledge to maintain America's military strength in South Korea against Communist China and North Korea.

The President looked fresh and rested despite the strains of the tiring trip. He said an ebullient farewell at the close of his three-day state visit to South Korea, then climbed into his special plane, Air Force One, with Mrs. Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and White House officials.

Before leaving Korea Johnson and President Chung Hee Park signed a farewell communique which promised to keep U.S. forces in Korea at their present level of 50,000, laid a wreath at the National Assembly, and made brief sordid remarks at the airport where a girls' chorus sang "The Yellow Rose of Texas" in Korea.

In his talk to the Korean Assembly—the last major pronouncement of the Asian trip—Johnson said he had "listened and learned much on this trip" "the solid agreement we found among allies at the Manila conference." But he added that "difficult days lie ahead of us in Viet Nam" and that peace will not come there until the Communists change their mind about fighting.

In 16 days, Johnson has traveled 25,000 miles to seven countries, the state of Hawaii and American Samoa, in the South Seas.

How To Pick 'Em?

Now that the Demonstration Cities Bill has been passed by Congress, a few thoughts on its application are in order. The wisdom of authorizing $1.17 billion in expenditures at a time when inflationary pressures are great and a war remains to be fought is still widely questioned.

Congress, however, has passed the measure despite these considerations, and attention must turn to the process of spending the funds.

Precisely how, it must be asked, are the demonstration cities to be chosen? Improperly handled, the program could become a gigantic boondoggle.

To pick the cities on the basis of how they voted in the last election, or how they might be persuaded to vote in the next election, would almost certainly bring about an unconscionable waste of funds.

Too much reliance on cities with good past records might discourage cities where the record hasn't been so good. But putting money into cities with poor records might amount to pouring it down a rathole.

Why not rate city governments, by an agency outside government? This could be used as a guide for those responsible for allocating demonstration cities money as well as a guide for the voters at home.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — For every entry he passes out to customers in a certain sales contest, the owner of a gasoline station pays two cents to his pocket.

It costs the grocer about two cents on each $1 of sales to supply you with trading stamps. Put another way, the grocer pays $2.40 for the 1,200 stamps needed to fill a certain stamp book.

Is it possible then, that these costs won't, in turn, be added to your bill? The trading stamp companies and contest promoters say these gifts are really free, and that they add nothing to your bill.

Who pays then? Is there really a Santa Claus in all this?

The usual answer is that, yes, there is a Santa Claus. It is volume. Promotional schemes, so the theory goes, provide so much added volume to a store that they pay for themselves. The needed increase might be about 15 or 20 per cent.

Not only do promotional schemes provide you with a gift and put dollars in the grocer's pocket too — but in doing this they apparently bring profits also.

One sweepstakes promoter says his business has tripled in the past few years. And Sperry & Hutchinson, a trading stamp distributor, reported profits from January through September of $17,881,000.

Promotion companies offer documentation for their claims that a good sales scheme can more than offset its own cost by means of added volume. This, however, leaves unanswered a big question: Where does the volume come from?

Generally speaking, the added sales come at the expense of a competitor. It is difficult to increase the volume of consumer food buying generally. It must come from another store's share.

The other store, however, doesn't usually permit this without a fight. It increases its advertising and promotion and perhaps takes on a stamp of its own. The quality of stamps then becomes a competitive factor.

Well aware of this, the stamp companies strive to improve the value of their products and the location, appearance and efficiency of their redemption centers.

If every store had trading stamps what kind of a situation would we be in? It hasn't happened nationally yet. About 40 per cent of the nation's food dollar carries a stamp premium with it. But some neighborhoods have been nearly saturated.

When this situation is reached you can watch for one big market to pull out of the competition, announce it will reduce prices and thus use price savings rather than gifts as a promotional tool.

With surveys showing 8 of 10 households now save stamps it is difficult to determine whether it is the demand of housewives for savings or the supply of stamps that keeps people saving, pasting, clipping, redeeming.

Some promoters say housewives enjoy playing sales promotion games, but, now that food prices have risen, some of the fun and some of the playful mood seem to have disappeared.

IN A FASCINATING book called "Monsoon Seas," Alan Villiers demolishes the legend about the notorious pirate, Captain Kidd. Far from being really big-time stuff, Captain

Kidd eventually turned up in New York, virtually penniless, was immediately arrested and hustled back to England. There he was hanged on May 23, 1701, so flabby and fat that the rope broke twice under his weight, necessitating his being strung up three times.

Poor, there goes another illusion! Apparently, fortune hunters who still form occasional expeditions to unearth the fearsome Captain Kidd's "lost treasures" would have a better chance of coping a jackpot on a carnival slot machine!

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

What makes someone faint? Fainting is a sudden loss of consciousness, usually temporary, and almost always caused by an insufficient amount of blood and oxygen to the brain. The following are only a few of the major causes of fainting.

1. A sudden drop of blood pressure caused by change of position by drugs or severe emotional upset.
2. Poor adjustment to high altitude.
3. A quick change of the rate and rhythm of the heart beat.
4. Weakness following an illness or an operation.
5. Marked lowering of the blood sugar due to fasting and in diabetics, due to an overdose of insulin.
6. Heat exhaustion with loss of body fluid.
7. Some forms of anemia.

An occasional episode of fainting should not be a cause of alarm. Yet it deserves attention and a complete physical checkup to find out the exact reason.

The immediate first-aid treatment for anyone who has fainted is to loosen all the tight clothing, belt, girdle and collar. Keep the victim flat and, where possible, elevate the legs and lower the head so that more blood and oxygen can flow to the brain.

Unhurried calmness and reassurance is the greatest contribution that can be made to the frightened person. Under no circumstance should alcohol be forced down the victim's mouth.

Is Paget's disease a very serious condition?

Any chronic illness that causes changes in tissues of the body must be considered important and serious enough to be kept under constant observation.

Paget's disease is a chronic disease of the bones of the skull and the long bones of the body. Slowly but progressively a thickening of the bones is formed. Strangely, as the bones become thickened they tend to become weaker and do not bear weight well causing slight bowing of the legs.

Sometimes the very first sign of Paget's disease may be the observation by someone that his hat size is becoming larger. X-rays of the bones show a very characteristic picture of the condition.

The seriousness of this bone disorder lies in the fact that it may, over a long period of time, cause limitation of motion and activity. The disease itself is not a threat to life.

Unfortunately, the exact cause is unknown and, there-

How Old Is Too Old?

By John Chamberlain

In 1944 Franklin D. Roosevelt was showing his age. It wasn't considered decent to mention it in the Presidential campaign of that year, although the set expression on FDR's face as he was paraded through New York City a few weeks before election day told its own story. A few months later Roosevelt was dead.

But what if he had recovered his health after the 1944 election and had gone on to complete his fourth term? Since nobody can read the future, the ethics of making questions of health and age into campaign issues must remain forever debatable. These are things that must be played by ear.

The embarrassment of having to deal with age and with rejuvenation is spoiling the 1966 Senatorial campaign in Illinois. The incumbent, Senator Paul Douglas, is no spring chicken. Yet if Douglas's age is mentioned, it is considered by many to be hitting below the belt. It is a two-edged issue to raise, for it could result in Douglas's getting sympathy vote. On the other hand, Douglas's opponent,

Charles Percy, is bound to get a sympathy vote because of the tragic murder of his daughter. If they are to do their job honestly, the pollsters must reckon with the problem of the play of sympathy in the Illinois Senatorial race no matter how touchy it is.

In New Mexico, there is another embarrassing situation. In a trial newspaper column written by Mark Acuff and submitted to several newspapers, the charge has been made that Democratic U. S. Senator Clinton P. Anderson, who was 71 years old on October 23, is being kept off television by his handlers because his "age is beginning to show." The column was accepted and used by an Albuquerque paper, which also based a news story on its contents. To document his column, Acuff wrote: "In a recent televised speech during the appearance of Vice President Hubert Humphrey... the Senator came across rather poorly. His speech was mumbled, he seemed to forget what he had meant to say, and to lose his train of thought. Many viewers complained that they couldn't understand the speech or catch many of the Senator's words."

The column has New Mexican political circles in an uproar, for its author, in a free-lance capacity, had been working part time for the Democrats editing political biographies for a campaign brochure. Acuff has denied the charge of a "conflict of interests."

He insists the column was honestly objective, and that his work for the Democratic Party was on a fee basis that carried with it no obligation to refrain from having his objective say as a news commentator.

The ethics of raising the question of Senator Anderson's health is bothering Anderson's opponent, 39-year-old Andy (yes, it's for Anderson) Carter. "If the reports are true," says Mr. Carter, "it will, of course, affect my campaign planning, for I would not want in any way to take advantage of Mr. Anderson's failing health."

Mr. Carter's chivalry is understandable, but it could be misplaced. For New Mexican voters are entitled to know all about the candidates who are competing for the job of representing them in Washington. Instead of accepting mealy-mouthed or equivocal statements about health and age, voters should insist on public confrontations of their candidates. If Roosevelt had met his Republican opponent, Thomas E. Dewey, in open debate in 1944, it could have made a difference. Senator Anderson has said he is "competent to work," and if this is true it should be easy enough for him to prove it by accepting at least a few invitations for political interviews on TV.

Because of his seniority, Clinton Anderson gives New Mexico a certain amount of power in the U. S. Senate that it would lose if a younger man were to take over his office. But Anderson, who has spent most of his energies recently in fighting for his pet Medicare bill, does not confront the wide range of interests that Republican Andy Carter insists on bringing to the fore. Carter, who flies his own plane, is all over the state, a vigorous campaigner who wants to talk about money, prices, and a foreign policy based on "strength and stability." If Senator Anderson hasn't been up to keeping pace with his much younger opponent, this is a fact of life that cannot be skipped over as a matter of courtesy.

ROY H. HUFFER, JR.
State Representative
from Pickaway County

Without reservation, Roy H. Huffer, Jr. endorses Myrl H. Shoemaker for State Representative.

I served with Myrl H. Shoemaker in the last legislature and my decision to endorse him was reached because of his record, his experience and his legislative ability.

It is most important under our reapportioned legislature that we have a representative with as much experience as possible for our rural county to offset the power the big cities have under reapportionment. Myrl H. Shoemaker has served for four (4) consecutive terms in the Ohio House of Representatives. Eighteen enactments that were sponsored or co-sponsored by Shoemaker during the last legislature is proof of his legislative ability. It is quite possible Representative Shoemaker may be considered for minority or majority leader in the next legislature.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

Once again our downtown streets are back to normal.

The Pumpkin Show has come and gone. Before we completely forget all about it until next year, we would like to take this opportunity to voice our appreciation to all who worked in the Youth Canteen booth. Our special thanks are extended to the day chairmen.

To all of you, parents of canteen members and just willing workers, thank you again for your volunteer efforts in helping to make this year a success.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

Once again our downtown streets are back to normal.

The Pumpkin Show has come and gone. Before we completely forget all about it until next year, we would like to take this opportunity to voice our appreciation to all who worked in the Youth Canteen booth. Our special thanks are extended to the day chairman.

To all of you, parents of canteen members and just willing workers, thank you again for your volunteer efforts in helping to make this year a success.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IN A FASCINATING book called "Monsoon Seas," Alan Villiers demolishes the legend about the notorious pirate, Captain Kidd. Far from being really big-time stuff, Captain Kidd, insists Villiers, made off with only one rich prize in his whole evil career—the barque Queda Merchant, bound West across the Indian Ocean, loaded with treasure from the Far East. Even this accomplishment availed him little, for his undisciplined crew of cutthroats promptly fell to quarreling over the spoils.

Kidd eventually turned up in New York, virtually penniless, was immediately arrested and hustled back to England. There he was hanged on May 23, 1701, so flabby and fat that the rope broke twice under his weight, necessitating his being strung up three times.

Poor, there goes another illusion! Apparently, fortune hunters who still form occasional expeditions to unearth the fearsome Captain Kidd's "lost treasures" would have a better chance of coping a jackpot on a carnival slot machine!

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

What makes someone faint? Fainting is a sudden loss of consciousness, usually temporary, and almost always caused by an insufficient amount of blood and oxygen to the brain. The following are only a few of the major causes of fainting.

1. A sudden drop of blood pressure caused by change of position by drugs or severe emotional upset.
2. Poor adjustment to high altitude.
3. A quick change of the rate and rhythm of the heart beat.
4. Weakness following an illness or an operation.
5. Marked lowering of the blood sugar due to fasting and in diabetes, due to an overdose of insulin.
6. Heat exhaustion with loss of body fluid.
7. Some forms of anemia.

An occasional episode of fainting should not be a cause of alarm. Yet it deserves attention and a complete physical checkup to find out the exact reason.

The immediate first-aid treatment for anyone who has fainted is to loosen all the tight clothing, belt, girdle and collar. Keep the victim flat and, where possible, elevate the legs and lower the head so that more blood and oxygen can flow to the brain.

Unhurried calmness and reassurance is the greatest contribution that can be made to the frightened person. Under no circumstance should alcohol be forced down the victim's mouth.

Is Paget's disease a very serious condition? Any chronic illness that causes changes in tissues of the body must be considered important and serious enough to be kept under constant observation.

Paget's disease is a chronic disease of the bones of the skull and the long bones of the body. Slowly but progressively a thickening of the bones is formed. Strangely, as the bones become thickened they tend to become weaker and do not bear weight well causing slight bowing of the legs.

Sometimes the very first sign of Paget's disease may be the observation by someone that his hat size is becoming larger.

X-rays of the bones show a very characteristic picture of the condition.

The seriousness of this bone disorder lies in the fact that it may, over a long period of time, cause limitation of motion and activity. The disease itself is not a threat to life.

Unfortunately, the exact cause is unknown and, there-

How Old Is Too Old?

By John Chamberlain

In 1944 Franklin D. Roosevelt was showing his age. It wasn't considered decent to mention it in the Presidential campaign of that year, although the set expression on FDR's face as he was paraded through New York City a few weeks before election day told its own story. A few months later Roosevelt was dead.

But what if he had recovered his health after the 1944 election and had gone on to complete his fourth term? Since nobody can read the future, the ethics of making questions of health and age into campaign issues must remain forever debatable. These are things that must be played by ear.

The embarrassment of having to deal with age and with bereavement is spoiling the 1966 Senatorial campaign in Illinois. The incumbent, Senator Paul Douglas, is no spring chicken. Yet if Douglas's age is mentioned, it is considered by many to be hitting below the belt. It is a two-edged issue to raise, for it could result in Douglas's getting sympathy vote. On the other hand, Douglas's opponent,

Charles Percy, is bound to get a sympathy vote because of the tragic murder of his daughter. If they are to do their job honestly, the pollsters must reckon with the problem of the play of sympathy in the Illinois Senatorial race no matter how touchy it is.

In New Mexico, there is another embarrassing situation. In a trial newspaper column written by Mark Acuff and submitted to several newspapers, the charge has been made that Democratic U. S. Senator Clinton P. Anderson, who was 71 years old on October 23, is being kept off television by his handlers because his "age is beginning to show." The column was accepted and used by an Albuquerque paper, which also based a news story on its contents. To document his column, Acuff wrote: "In a recent televised speech during the appearance of Vice President Hubert Humphrey... the Senator came across rather poorly. His speech was mumbled, he seemed to forget what he had meant to say, and to lose his train of thought. Many viewers complained that they couldn't understand the speech or catch many of the Senator's words."

The column has New Mexican political circles in an uproar, for its author, in a free-lance capacity, had been working part time for the Democrats editing political biographies for a campaign brochure. Acuff has denied the charge of a "conflict of interests."

He insists the column was honestly objective, and that his work for the Democratic Party was on a fee basis that carried with it no obligation to refrain from having his objective say as a news commentator.

The ethics of raising the question of Senator Anderson's health is bothering Anderson's opponent, 39-year-old Andy (yes, it's for Anderson) Carter. "If the reports are true," says Mr. Carter, "it will, of course, affect my campaign planning, for I would not want in any way to take advantage of Mr. Anderson's failing health."

Mr. Carter's chivalry is understandable, but it could be misplaced. For New Mexican voters are entitled to know all about the candidates who are competing for the job of representing them in Washington. Instead of accepting mealy-mouthed or equivocal statements about health and age, voters should insist on public confrontations of their candidates. If Roosevelt had met his Republican opponent, Thomas E. Dewey, in open debate in 1944, it could have made a difference. Senator Anderson has said he is "competent to work," and if this is true it should be easy enough for him to prove it by accepting at least a few invitations for political interviews on TV.

Because of his seniority, Clinton Anderson gives New Mexico a certain amount of power in the U. S. Senate that it would lose if a younger man were to take over his office. But Anderson, who has spent most of his energies recently in fighting for his pet Medicare bill, does not confront the wide range of interests that Republican Andy Carter insists on bringing to the fore. Carter, who flies his own plane, is all over the state, a vigorous campaigner who wants to talk about money, prices, and a foreign policy based on "strength and stability." If Senator Anderson hasn't been up to keeping pace with his much younger opponent, this is a fact of life that cannot be skipped over as a matter of courtesy.

ROY H. HUFFER, JR.

State Representative

from Pickaway County

Without reservation, Roy H. Huffer, Jr. endorses Myrl H. Shoemaker for State Representative.

I served with Myrl H. Shoemaker in the last legislature and my decision to endorse him was reached because of his record, his experience and his legislative ability.

It is most important under our reapportioned legislature that we have a representative with as much experience as possible for our rural county to offset the power the big cities have under reapportionment. Myrl H. Shoemaker has served for four (4) consecutive terms in the Ohio House of Representatives. Eighteen enactments that were sponsored or co-sponsored by Shoemaker during the last legislature is proof of his legislative ability. It is quite possible Representative Shoemaker may be considered for minority or majority leader in the next legislature.

NUMBERS OF MALES AND FEMALES

Q. I have heard that there are now more boys than girls. If so, why is there a shortage of teenage boys?

A. Some teenage boys must be hiding out. It's true that more boy babies are born than girl babies. The male/female ratio at birth is something like 1000/943. Because of the higher mortality of males, by mid-teens the boy-girl ratio is about 985/943. At about 19 there are the same number of boys as girls. At older ages the higher mortality of males is much more apparent. At ages 65 and over, for example, there are roughly two females for each male.

PRICKLY HEAT

Q. What causes prickly heat and how is it best treated?

A. Prickly heat is due to plugging of the sweat glands. Once this occurs sweating leads to further irritation of the duct, and a vicious cycle of perspiration—irritation is established. The most effective and most reliable method to prevent prickly heat is to reduce sweating.

New Yorkers Will Vote On School Fund Lottery

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York voters will decide Tuesday whether the state should operate a lottery to raise money for the schools, as New Hampshire does.

The question will appear on the general election ballot as a proposed amendment to the state constitution. Many election observers believe the voters will say "Yes" — despite opposition to the proposal in high councils of government, education and religion.

Such legalized gambling as pari-mutuel horse racing and bingo enjoy widespread popularity in New York and, say law enforcement officers, do such illegal ventures as bookmaking and the "numbers" game.

The lottery amendment is so broadly worded that the 1967 legislature would have complete discretion in deciding exactly what kind of lottery to establish.

Democratic state legislators, who fostered the idea, envision a system similar to that of New Hampshire, which sells $3 tickets based on selected horse races. Advocates of this plan say it could raise $400 million in revenue annually.

Under the terms of the amendment, all proceeds would have to be used for public schools. The state now channels more than $1.3 billion a year into school aid.

Opponents of the lottery include Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, his Democratic opponent in the gubernatorial race, Frank D. O'Connor, and U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., although none of them is campaigning against it.

But both O'Connor and Rockefeller have said they would sign legislation setting up a lottery if the voters approve the amendment.

Very few high-ranking officeholders are supporting the lottery plan. One prominent exception is Anthony J. Travia, Democratic speaker of the State Assembly. New York's Republican mayor, John V. Lindsay, also says he likes the idea.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 2, the 306th day of 1966. There are 59 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1948, President Harry S. Truman was elected for his first full term of office.

On this date:

In 1834, issues of John Peter Zenger's weekly journal were ordered seized and destroyed in New York, resulting in the famous trial that established freedom of the press.

In 1920, regular radio broadcasting began in the United States at station KDKA in Pittsburgh which broadcast the Harding-Cox presidential election returns.

In 1942, German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps began its retreat from El Alamei in the desert of North Africa.

In 1944, President Franklin D. Roosevelt declared the war against Japan was many "our own optimistic schedule."

Five years ago — President Kennedy said the United States would make the necessary preparations to resume nuclear tests in the atmosphere, in his words: "so as to be ready in case it becomes necessary to conduct them." This in the wake of Soviet Russia's detonation of a bigger-than 50-megaton atomic device.

One year ago — A 32-year-old Baltimore Quaker, Norman Morrison, burned himself to death in front of the Pentagon in Washington in protest against U.S. involvement in the Viet Nam war.

"Johnson Congress" would raise taxes and trigger a recession.

GOP Bases Hope for Gain On Gubernatorial Races

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are staking most of their hopes for widening the base of their 1968 challenge to President Johnson primarily on the outcome of governors' races in next Tuesday's balloting.

It is in these contests for control of statehouses that Democratic strategists privately concede they are considerably more vulnerable than they believe they are in the 435 House and 35 Senate contests to be decided at the same time.

From the current low point of 17 governors, Republicans hope for a substantial gain that will give them a chance to build state organizations geared toward capturing 1968 electoral votes in an uphill contest against Johnson's expected re-election bid.

Although Democrats don't believe it will turn out that way, some GOP strategists envision their party's occupancy of the governor's office in such key states as New York, California, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Maryland and Massachusetts in 1967.

To do this, the GOP would have to hold its seats in six of these states and add California, Minnesota and Maryland. Democrats are not giving up on any of these nine big states, but they cannot be classed as overly optimistic about their chances in them.

In the smaller electoral vote states, the Republicans are gunning for Democratic governors in Arizona, Arkansas, Nebraska, Nevada, Iowa, New Hampshire and Vermont. They have some hopes in Alabama and Georgia.

The Democrats, who now control 36 statehouses, have a smaller target to shoot at. But they are talking about ousting Republicans in Idaho, Kansas, Oregon and Wyoming.

The Republicans have taken heart at public opinion polls which indicate their best showing may be made in the governor's races. They are more or less resigned to polls showing them lagging in Senate and House contests, although they have been able to extract some solace even from these.

For example, the Harris Survey, a copyright private poll published by the Washington Post, estimated the Democrats' total vote in races for 435 House seats — including those in sections of the South uncontested or virtually so — at 56 per cent.

That sounds more discouraging than it is to the Republican strategists. They point out that this percentage of the vote is one point higher than it was when they captured 175 House seats in 1960. Any such outcome next Tuesday would mean a gain of 35 over the 140 GOP members elected in 1964, when the party got 42.4 per cent of the total vote cast.

In the previous off-year election in 1962, the Republicans elected 177 members when they got 47.7 per cent of the vote.

Percentage figures are not comparable in Senate contests since different states are involved each two years.

But in 1960, when most of the seats involved this year were at stake, Republicans won 11 of 34 contests with 44.5 per cent of the total senatorial vote. This included seven Southern states in which the GOP had no nominees.

This year the Harris poll estimated the Republicans would get 48 per cent of the total vote cast in contests involving 20 Democratic and 15 Republican seats.

Dem Chief Cries Unfair On GOP Film

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats charge that a Republican campaign film scheduled for nationwide television showing Sunday contains "highly distorted and misleading material."

The charges were made by Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey in a letter Tuesday to the Fair Campaign Practices Committee.

Republicans thanked the Democrats for giving them publicity but contended that a final version of the film has not yet been made.

The committee said only that it had received Bailey's letter.

The film, entitled "What's Going On Here" and narrated by actor Raymond Massey, is scheduled to be televised Sunday on the National Broadcasting Co. network. It was produced for the Republican Congressional Committee by Newsplex Inc. of New York City.

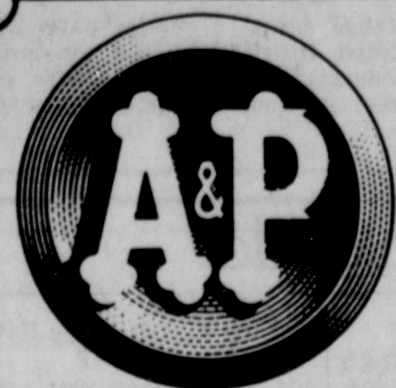

Film clips are said to include shots of American soldiers being fired on in Viet Nam and of rioting in the streets of American cities. At one point, President Johnson is reportedly quoted as saying "we only have inflation under the Democrats."

Al Mark, director of information for the Democratic National Committee, said he knew of no top Democratic officials including himself and Bailey who had actually seen the film. He said Democratic charges were based on material "pulled together from various sources."

As the final six days of campaigning began, there were these other highlights: President Johnson left Asia behind and prepared for a scheduled speech this morning in Anchorage, Alaska, where he was expected to push for re-election of major Democratic candidates.

Reports from Los Angeles, Phoenix and San Antonio, still unconfirmed by the White House, indicated Johnson would campaign Saturday in Oregon, northern California and Salt Lake City; Sunday in southern California and Arizona, and Monday in Albuquerque, N.M., and San Antonio. Other stops were also possible.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said in Bloomington, Minn., that if Republicans unseat Minnesota Gov. Karl F. Roivaag and Sen. Walter F. Mondale, both Democrats, "it would be a very serious blow to his (Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's) chances of staying on the ticket in 1968." In Newark, Ohio, Nixon said another

In 1942, German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps began its retreat from El Alamei in the desert of North Africa.

In 1944, President Franklin D. Roosevelt declared the war against Japan was many "our own optimistic schedule."

Five years ago — President Kennedy said the United States would make the necessary preparations to resume nuclear tests in the atmosphere, in his words: "so as to be ready in case it becomes necessary to conduct them." This in the wake of Soviet Russia's detonation of a bigger-than 50-megaton atomic device.

One year ago — A 32-year-old Baltimore Quaker, Norman Morrison, burned himself to death in front of the Pentagon in Washington in protest against U.S. involvement in the Viet Nam war.

"Johnson Congress" would raise taxes and trigger a recession.

GOP Bases Hope for Gain On Gubernatorial Races

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are staking most of their hopes for widening the base of their 1968 challenge to President Johnson primarily on the outcome of governors' races in next Tuesday's balloting.

It is in these contests for control of statehouses that Democratic strategists privately concede they are considerably more vulnerable than they believe they are in the 435 House and 35 Senate contests to be decided at the same time.

From the current low point of 17 governors, Republicans hope for a substantial gain that will give them a chance to build state organizations geared to ward capturing 1968 electoral votes in an uphill contest against Johnson's expected re-election bid.

Although Democrats don't believe it will turn out that way, some GOP strategists envision their party's occupancy of the governor's office in such key states as New York, California, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Maryland and Massachusetts in 1967.

To do this, the GOP would have to hold its seats in six of these states and add California, Minnesota and Maryland. Democrats are not giving up on any of these nine big states, but they cannot be classed as overly optimistic about their chances in them.

In the smaller electoral vote states, the Republicans are gunning for Democratic governors in Arizona, Arkansas, Nebraska, Nevada, Iowa, New Hampshire and Vermont. They have some hopes in Alabama and Georgia.

The Democrats, who now control 36 statehouses, have a smaller target to shoot at. But they are talking about ousting Republicans in Idaho, Kansas, Oregon and Wyoming.

The Republicans have taken heart at public opinion polls which indicate their best showing may be made in the governor's races. They are more or less resigned to polls showing them lagging in Senate and House contests, although they have been able to extract some solace even from these.

For example, the Harris Survey, a copyright private poll published by the Washington Post, estimated the Democrats' total vote in races for 435 House seats — including those in sections of the South uncontested or virtually so — at 56 per cent.

That sounds more discouraging than it is to the Republican strategists. They point out that this percentage of the vote is one point higher than it was when they captured 175 House seats in 1960. Any such outcome next Tuesday would mean a gain of 35 over the 140 GOP members elected in 1964, when the party got 42.4 per cent of the total vote cast.

In the previous off-year election in 1962, the Republicans elected 177 members when they got 47.7 per cent of the vote.

Percentage figures are not comparable in Senate contests since different states are involved each two years.

But in 1960, when most of the seats involved this year were at stake, Republicans won 11 of 34 contests with 44.5 per cent of the total senatorial vote. This included seven Southern states in which the GOP had no nominees.

This year the Harris poll es-

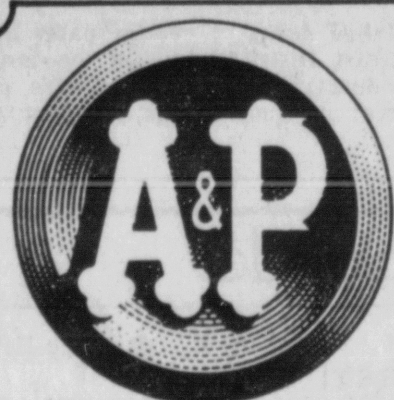

Rotarians Slate Film on Space

A film on the space program will highlight the program at this week's Rotary Club meeting.

"Space Walk — Gemini", is the film title. It will be shown following lunch at the L-K Restaurant.

The program for next week will focus on "Adventures in the Arctic", with noted sportsman Red Trabue slated.

Estimated the Republicans would get 48 per cent of the total vote cast in contests involving 20 Democratic and 15 Republican seats.

how much cake should there be in a fruit cake?

Not much!

In fact, we think just enough to hold the fruit and nuts in place.

You see, our Jane Parker Fruit Cake is over 2/3 fruit and nuts.

Every cake is just bursting with cherries imported from France, pineapple from the Far East, citron from Italy, sun-drenched raisins from California and meaty pecans from the South.

AND ONE OTHER THING YOU SHOULD KNOW:

It's the same wonderful cake... at the same low price as last year.

Isn't that good news?

Is it any wonder Jane Parker Fruit Cake is America's most popular Fruit Cake?

Is it any wonder it's become such a favorite gift item?

Is Jane Parker Fruit Cake a good reason for shopping A&P?

It's one of many.

Miss Francis, Mr. Darst Exchange Wedding Vows

MRS. TERRY L. DARST

The Calvary EUB Church was the setting at 6:30 p. m. Oct. 15 for the marriage of Miss Shirley Ann Francis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon L. Francis, 618 Renick Ave., and Mr. Terry L. Darst, son of Mrs. June Darst, 531 E. Franklin St., and Mr. Floyd Darst, Amanda.

The Rev. Gerald Niswender performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with vases of white flowers and candelabra.

Mrs. Earl Milliron presented pre-nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of ivory satin. The bouffant skirt featured tiers of lace in front and the back cascaded into a cathedral train. The gown fashioned a scalloped neckline, long sleeves, and was accented with crystals. A coronet crown trimmed with pearls held her full length veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and chrysanthemums trimmed in pink. Her only jewelry was a necklace, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Joy Fausnaugh was matron of honor. She wore a dress of blue velvet and white lace. Her accessories were of dark blue, and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums with blue trim. Her only jewelry was a pin, a gift of the bride.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Shirley Smith and Miss Becky Darst. They wore blue velvet with light blue accessories. They carried white chrysanthemums. The necklaces they wore were gifts of the bride.

Garden Club Set To Meet Tuesday

The Pickaway County Garden Club will meet 8 p. m. Tuesday in the cafeteria at Atwater School. Mrs. Howard Davies is chairman of the hostess committee.

A program on Chrysanthemums will be presented by Mrs. Emmett Barnhart. She will use slides and specimens in her presentation.

The featured arrangement for the evening will be by Mrs. Richard Jones.

Ohio U Student Wins News Award

CHICAGO (AP)—Jim Holland of Ohio University has won two first place national awards in photography in judging by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society, for outstanding performance in newspaper, broadcast, photo and magazine journalism by students and college publications.

Holland won in spot news photography and for scenic or special picture. Douglas Caldwell of Ohio University was second in television reporting.

Marysville Inmates Take French Leave

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Four inmates of the Ohio Women's Reformatory walked away unnoticed Tuesday and remained at large at last report.

The escapees are Alberta Williams, 32, Cleveland, serving time for grand larceny; Martha Kegley, 25, Portsmouth, burglary; Delores June Shmibaugh, 32, Mansfield, forgery, and Martha Lee Smith, Mansfield, robbery.

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP) — When a service station attendant refused to cash a check for Clarence Finch Lyman, police said Lyman then:

Ripped the cash register from a shelf, short-circuiting the electrical system and plunging the filling station into darkness, and ran off with the register containing $202.

A short time after the incident Tuesday, police say they apprehended Lyman, 41, and recovered the cash register. He was charged with grand theft and jailed in lieu of $3,000 bond.

Taft-Gilligan Race Called Nation's Top

CINCINNATI (AP) — Swiftly the Plymouth convertible swerved—to the right, of course—and Bob Taft took the expressway exit so hurriedly that his sound truck behind missed the turn.

No one could say Taft was driving recklessly. He was just another harassed candidate without a minute to spare.

For Robert Taft Jr., is racing for his political life against Rep. John Joyce Gilligan, a first-term Democrat, in what looks like the nation's No. 1 congressional contest.

This race has everything: The Taft name, a national political force for four generations, granddad was president and chief justice, dad was Mr. Republican; lively, young, articulate contenders, money to spend, vociferous supporters who feel that if their hero is drubbed then all mankind is doomed, the prospect of a finish that could be in doubt to the last ballot.

Each side has special reasons for trying harder.

After serving his apprenticeship in the Ohio Legislature, Taft was elected congressman-at-large in 1962 and seemed on his way up, maybe even to the White House.

Then, from Taft's viewpoint, a terrible thing happened, namely, Sen. Barry Goldwater, who lost Ohio so one-sidedly to President Johnson in 1964 that Taft sank, too, in his bid for the Senate.

Now, as Taft redhots see it, another defeat not only would be a disaster for him, but it would also be a major setback in their attempt to steer the Republican party along what they think is a moderate path.

"There's only despair and confusion on the right," Taft's campaign manager, Paul Rubin, says. "The salvation of the Republican party — if there is a salvation — is a man like Bob Taft."

For the Democrats: Lyndon B. Johnson's success in pushing his "Great Society" programs through Congress has been due to the loyalty of 48 freshmen Democrats. If Republicans can win back half or more of these seats — and this is one of them — Johnson will get little new legislation, and will have trouble financing programs he already has.

At a recent rally attended by Gilligan, Jimmy Simpkins of the Teamsters' Union put it on the line:

"If we lost 10 or 12 seats, the control of the House is going right back into the hands of the Republicans and the Southern Democrats. It would be a shame and a disgrace to the people of Ohio not to send this man back to Congress."

Sending this man back to Congress won't be easy.

This district is the eastern part of Hamilton County — Cincinnati. It was strongly Republican when Gilligan shocked everyone, himself included, by winning by 5,411 votes in 1964. To make sure this wouldn't happen again, the Ohio Legislature gave the district a little more real estate and 7,000 more Republican votes.

Democrats, especially those who are very poor, need a lot of arousing before they will go to the polls, and this is hard to do when there's no presidential race.

Gilligan isn't only fighting Taft; he's also battling a computer.

Painstakingly, the name of every voter — and his preferences — was collected and fed to the machine. "You've got to go where the ducks are," Goldwater used to say. In these critical days before Nov. 8, Taft can

READY FOR THE BATTLE OF BALLOTS—RCA's computerized election center, which will funnel vast amounts of vote information into a television election headquarters at Rockefeller Center, New York, is put through a full-scale test by computer experts Al Posner (right) and Arthur A. High Food Prices Linked To Service Demand, Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national supermarket spokesman says food prices can be reduced substantially only if stores cut out services he says the public demands.

But in Portland, Ore., a leader of a housewives organization planning to picket 170 stores says it would be fine to eliminate some of those services.

Elsewhere, there was scattered evidence that the burgeoning housewife revolt against high prices was inching ahead.

Clarence G. Adamy, president of the National Association of Food Chains, said Monday in Washington he sees no chance that housewife boycotts will bring lower food prices.

Prices could only be cut substantially, he said, "by shortening hours, taking out bag boys, eliminating check cashing — you could go down a considerable amount, maybe 6, 7, 8 or 9 per cent."

go where the undecided ducks are.

On election day, in theory, the Republicans can round up every solid vote they have — and can studiously ignore those they know will go against them.

Good organization wins the close ones; that's why Taft is rated a slight favorite.

Tall, husky men like Taft usually rate adjectives like "bluff" and "heartly". Despite that impeccable family tree, despite Yale and Harvard, Taft at 49 is still shy and slow to warm up.

Suave he is not. But take him to the large, elegantly turned out home of Mrs. Joseph Claggs Jr., before a large, elegantly turned out group of matrons, and they love him.

Gilligan is tall, redhaired, graceful. Fascinated with the English language and the humanities at Notre Dame, he got his master's at the University of Cincinnati and wound up as an instructor in literature at Xavier University.

Although he served five and a half terms on the Cincinnati City Council, Gilligan, at 45, retains some mannerisms of a modern prose and drama teacher, with the gesture that can end in a slight flutter, the answer that can be both amused and a bit pedantic.

Rough-hewn he is not. But get him before the Teamsters, proud of speaking glibly on gut issues, and they love him.

Emergency Board Acts On Pan-American Demand

WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House emergency board recommended Tuesday three 5 per cent wage hikes over a 32-month contract for some 12,000 Pan American World Airways mechanics, ground service workers and flight personnel.

The recommendations of the presidential board appointed to avert a strike by the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union are in line with wage increases won by the same union from American Airlines in a settlement branded as inflationary by White House economists.

But the emergency board in the Pan American case said it would be "impractical" to ignore the American Airlines settlement and the agreement of AFL-CIO machinists with five other major airlines recently. The board also said its recommendations would "not add substantially to inflationary pressures."

The union, which was set to strike when President Johnson appointed the emergency board

Sept. 30, will be free again to stage a walkout Nov. 30 if no settlement is reached by then.

The emergency board said it would leave to Pan American and the union "whether wages should be subject to reopening during the life of the contract based on cost of living considerations."

Cost of living escalator clauses have become a prime labor demand in the current period of sharply rising prices, and the machinists gained up to 6 cents an hour under a wage escalator clause negotiated with five airlines after a 42-day strike.

The emergency board rejected union demands for a shorter work week, double-time pay for all overtime work beyond an eight-hour day and time and one-half for work on weekends.

The board also recommended an eighth paid holiday offered by Pan American, instead of three additional holidays demanded by the union. The board adopted the airline's proposal to boost pay for holiday work from double time to double time and one half, instead of the triple pay asked by the union.

The board recommended the union withdraw its demands for improved vacations, saying Pan American's vacation plan is already superior to other airlines.

Under terms continued since contract termination notice took effect last June 30, Pan American hourly wages have ranged from $2.59 for cleaners to $4.71 for technicians.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A 47-year-old cancer patient was stabbed in her hospital bed early today by her husband because he didn't want her to suffer anymore, police said.

The woman, Mrs. Oren Boyer, was listed in critical condition.

Boyer, 54, a factory worker, was held on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill.

group of Medina County housewives threatened today to boycott a supermarket chain in a campaign to win lower food prices.

Representatives of the "Women for Action" group met for four hours Monday with John Fazio, co-owner of Fisher-Fazio-Costa Food Stores. They told Fazio there was nothing personal in the selection of his stores for their first buyers' strike and that his was just the first name drawn from the hat.

Other supermarket chains will be hit later, they said.

Embarrassment Causes High Blood Pressure

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Embarrassment is one emotion that kicks up many people's blood pressure.

Going out to a social dinner elevates pressure in some persons but such an evening out may lower it in others, cardiologists are finding in new studies of blood pressure and how best to control dangerously high pressures. Pressures are being measured by semiautomatic recorders attached to volunteers' arms as they go about their daily activities. They take their pressures each half hour and the readings are recorded, sight unseen, on magnetic tape in a device worn about the waist. Subjects also keep a log of what they were doing at those times.

This new phase of pressure studies is just getting under way, Drs. Maurice Sokolow, David Werdegard and Dorothea Perloff of the University of California Medical School in San Francisco told the fifth World Congress of Cardiology today.

Casual or one-shot measurements in doctors' offices are often misleading, Sokolow said. Often they are higher than pressures average during a normal day, due to nervousness or other reasons.

More than 300 persons have taken part in pressure readings as they went about their usual activities. The new studies of what daily events actually do to a person's pressure could be helpful in advising a person what kind of events or activities to avoid.

Elevated blood pressure is one factor implicated in premature heart attacks.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the Vietnamese war language is like a rubber band, and both sides stretch it until what may seem clear at first glance turns out not to be clear at all.

Yet, it's just when the language is cloudy that one side or the other may be leaving the door open for eventual negotiations. It's when the language is clearest that both sides seem to slam the door.

Both the North Vietnamese Communists and the Viet Cong insist the Viet Cong are simply North Viet Nam's agents—demand this country pull out its troops and abandon its bases in South Viet Nam.

But — they're vague on just when the pull-out must take place, never saying precisely whether this means before any negotiations can begin or after negotiations start but before there can be a final settlement.

In turn, President Johnson says the country is ready to begin talks about a settlement without "any preconditions." But this doesn't say or mean the United States wouldn't lay down conditions for peace when talks begin.

And last month at Manila Johnson agreed the United States would pull out its troops, provided the other side does likewise, and provided the other side stops infiltrating the south, and as the level of violence subsides.

But in this seesaw neither side has said anything so flatly that talks of any kind would be impossible. It's when the language gets a little clearer that a solution seems as far off as ever.

The United States repeatedly has made two basic points plain about its position and its reason for being in the war: It wants a free, independent South Viet Nam and it wants to stop a Communist takeover of South-east Asia.

The United States cannot retreat from those two points without admitting defeat or looking hypocritical.

But the Viet Cong's parent organization, the National Liberation Front, has laid down what seems to be a very definite condition for a peace settlement. It says the NLF must have the "decisive" voice in any settlement.

But, according to the NLF's program outlined years ago, it says the government of South Viet Nam must be overthrown and a new one put in its place. This, of course, would be one under NLF control.

And North Viet Nam, in its four-point program for peace, backs up the NLF by insisting in one of its points that:

"The internal affairs of South Viet Nam must be settled by the South Vietnamese people themselves in accordance with the program of the NLF," a program just explained above.

And, to make it doubly plain, North Viet Nam later said the NLF must have the decisive voice in any settlement. That really opens a bag of obstacles.

Since the United States says the NLF is just the stooge of the North Vietnamese Reds, then its own kind of government in South Viet Nam is really North Viet Nam's program.

But if the United States ever agrees to this, it would be abandoning and betraying the two prime points it has insisted upon from the beginning:

1. South Viet Nam must be left free and independent.

2. The Communist attempt to take over Southeast Asia must be stopped, a main reason the United States is fighting this war.

If this country let North Viet Nam take over South Viet Nam, then, instead of being stopped, the Red attempt to take over Southeast Asia would have been advanced by one step and, worse, would have been agreed to by this country.

Hold Suspect In Near-Fatal Beating Case

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Betty Fawles, or Tena Langley, or Mrs. Allen E. Erwin, whatever her real name, still lay in critical condition at University Hospital, Columbus, today while investigation proceeded into her near-fatal beating.

And still in custody, as he had been since shortly after the 26-year-old victim was found early Tuesday in shrubbery outside a suburban home, was a 30-year-old Urbana man who works for a trucking firm here.

Authorities withheld charges pending fuller investigation.

Identity of the woman who was evidently battered with some heavy object remained unknown some 18 hours or more after she was discovered and hospitalized.

Finally, officers reported she had been living here and working at a photo studio as Tena Langley but her social security card carried the name Betty Fawles. It was indicated further she had a married name, Mrs. Erwin, under which her address was listed as in Baltimore, Md. Baltimore sources reported no one in the vicinity of the address knew of her.

Believed to be a Cherokee Indian, the woman was clad only in green pullover sweater and half slip when found in a subdivision northwest of here shortly after a resident was awakened by his dog's barking and heard "thumping" sounds outside.

The resident's description of a car parked in a driveway led to Urbana police stopping an auto and arresting the man still held today.

Nuclear Cloud Now over U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government weather scientists estimated today a high-flying radioactive cloud from Red China's latest nuclear blast already is passing over a wide area of the United States.

But both they and spokesmen for the Public Health Service said comparatively little of the debris is expected to appear as fallout in the United States, and they said it should present no significant health hazard.

The leading edge of the 1,000-mile-wide cloud, swept from west to east at altitudes of about 30,000 feet, is expected to leave North America sometime before noon Wednesday and head out over the Atlantic toward Europe.

Pickaway Grange Report

SCIOTO VALLEY
Scioto Valley Grange met on Oct. 25 with Worthy Master Harold Bumgarner presiding.
Home Economics chairman, Mrs. Leona Berger spoke on the cafeteria supper held Thursday.
Remembrance chairman, Miss Cleona Dunnick, sent a baby card to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Spring, on the birth of a son and a sympathy card to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Krieger on the death of her sister.

It was announced Pomona Grange will meet Nov. 5, at the Grange Building in Circleville with Scioto Valley as host grange.
The Harrison Twp. Trustees asked the use of the Scioto Valley Grange building on Election Day, Nov. 8. The grange meeting on that date has been cancelled.
A letter was read concerning sending the lecturer, Mrs. Mabel Fisher to the Great Lakes Conference in Columbus at the

The lecturer presented the following program. She used as her theme: "It's Autumn Time Again"; a song by the grange; "I'm Glad We Belong to the Grange, Maggie"; "I Feast My Eyes," a tribute to Autumn, by Mrs. Mabel Fisher.
"Things That Haven't Been Done Before," a tribute to Christopher Columbus by Miss Gladys Vause; "The Friendly Pumpkin," Taylor Lutz; "Halloween" by Mrs. Clara Creager; editorial, "Peanut Butter" by Mrs. Ethel Hoover; "Tree Riddles," a guessing game by all; "Funny Sayings" by Harold Bumgarner; "The Beauty of Autumn" by Mrs. Virginia

NEW YORK (AP) — It all began when Lucille Lips phoned Rudy Vallee at a New York night club and sang: "Happy birthday to you, happy birthday to you, happy birthday, dear Rudy." You know the rest.
Fausnaugh; "A Safe Driver Prayer" by the chaplain, Mrs. Nellie Bumgarner. Closing song was "Lord, Dismiss Us with Thy Blessing."
Refreshments of donuts, cider and coffee were served by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Mahaffey and Mr. and Mrs. Hal Richard.
The next meeting will be held on Nov. 22.

Now automation is taking over the field pioneered by Miss Lips in that 1933 phone call, when she warbled Western Union's very first singing telegram.
Henceforth, singing telegrams need not be rendered by tiny tenors, squeaky sopranos or cracked contraltos. They all can reel smoothly off your phonograph in the rich baritone of John Gorman.
Western Union's new automated greetings, called Melody Grams, come in 10 different messages, each with lyrics appropriate to some special event, on 33 1-3-rpm records.

"Happy Birthday to You" still leads the hit parade, but you also have a choice of "Everything's Coming Up Roses," "Little Boy Congratulations," "Little Girl Congratulations," "Hello Dolly," "Love and Marriage," "Anniversary Waltz," "Do I Love You," "I Wish You Love" and "I Want to Communicate With You."
Performed in bouncy rhythms and lively lyrics, the records are accompanied by a large greeting card and a five-word personal message. At $3 for immediate coast-to-coast delivery or $2.25 for next-day delivery, they are a slightly larger investment than the old-style telegram where the operator dials and then serenades you over the phone. That service will be continued, however, at the same rate — the regular telegram charge plus 50 cents for "special handling."

A Western Union spokesman predicted that the new service would turn a tidy profit. Singing telegrams for years have averaged only a tiny part of Western Union's net income — roughly a quarter of a million dollars out of about $305 million last year.
One person particularly interested in the records' success is baritone Gorman, who collects a royalty of one penny per Melody Gram.

Gorman, 37, has seven children and has always wanted a singing career. "But singing hasn't put bread and butter on the table so far," he says, so he is a stonecutter and bricklayer in Dalton, Mass.

New 'Johnson Congress' Means Taxes, Says Nixon

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—President Johnson's return from the Far East signals a last minute election blitz to keep the Democratic-controlled congress intact, says Richard M. Nixon.

The former vice president told a Republican rally here, in the nation's only congressional district with two incumbent foes, that "another Johnson Congress would boost taxes to combat inflation and cause a recession."

"If you cut non-military spending, you would have insurance against recession," Nixon asserted. He suggested a 5 per cent federal budget slash, cuts in the poverty program and "pork barrel" public works programs.

Nixon stopped off on a flight from New York to Minneapolis Tuesday to plug for re-election of GOP Congressman John M.

Ashbrook, early 1964 Goldwater backer, over U. S. Rep. Robert T. Secrest, veteran Democrat redistricted out of a House seat. Secrest moved into Ashbrook's revamped district to set up the only clash between sitting congressmen this year.

"Ashbrook will be your congressman, not Johnson's," Nixon told the crowd that filled more than 600 seats placed in the Elks' Club auditorium and overflowed into a balcony.

Nixon recalled that Johnson called it "my Congress" in a news conference, the only president claiming "to own" the nation's lawmakers.

"The Congress belongs to the people of the United States, not to Lyndon Johnson," Nixon added.

Asserting that a "Johnson Congress" would raise taxes, Nixon said:

"If you raise taxes, it will trigger a recession."

And he warned that a recession could bring wage and price controls.

"A Republican Congress would cut the budget so families could balance their own budgets," Nixon continued.

Noting that wages have gone up 3 per cent but that prices have increased 4 per cent, Nixon said housewives should picket the White House instead of supermarkets.

"Basically, the issue is the cost of Johnson," he said, "repeated at a news conference his prediction that Republicans would gain a net of 40 House seats, three in the Senate and six governors."

He predicted wide GOP victories for Ronald Reagan in California, Charles Percy in Illinois, George Romney in Michigan but said New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's race could be close.

"Ohio, from what I hear, with your Gov. James A. Rhodes, could be the biggest win of all," Nixon added. Rhodes won four years ago by a plurality of more than 555,000.

School Board...

(Continued from Page 1) does not become necessary. The balance maintained in recent years will be depleted to about $25,000 this year. This indicates a need of $70,000 simply to maintain status quo, the educators stated.

Rising utility costs as well as all other supplies and textbooks must be met if the same quality program that the schools now provide is to be continued. Many educational improvements have been made in recent years without additional taxes for current expenses being requested, it was noted.

How does Circleville compare as to available funds with other districts in Ohio and our immediate neighbors? The school board and administration reply: "Frankly, Circleville district dollars have bought considerably more than practically any school district in Ohio.

"To substantiate this statement the following data is submitted: According to the Ohio Education Assn. Research Report of March 1966, Circleville City has $338 of support per pupil. There are only three Ohio city school districts with less dollar support. These are Wellston, Franklin and Fairborn. In our immediate area, the dollar support per pupil is: Chillicothe, $422; Lancaster, $430; Washington C. H., $373; Teays Valley, $394; Logan Elm, $367; and Westfall, $414.

"THE LATEST research indicating actual cost per pupil for current expenses shows that Circleville City spends $313.99. Neighboring districts spend as follows: Chillicothe, $413.83; Lancaster, $383.34; Washington C. H., $345.34; Teays Valley, $401.01; Logan Elm, $404.69; and Westfall, $386.31."

The Circleville City School tax rate of 16.5 mills for operation expenses ranks 151st of 161 city school districts in Ohio. This means, the board said, that only 10 city districts have a lower operating rate. Of these ten, only one (Logan) has a lower valuation per pupil.

The median or average rate for city school districts is 22.03 in Ohio. With the 3.5 mill increase, Circleville will remain 2.03 mills below the state average for city school districts and will only approach the average for all school districts.

Although the board is asking for an additional 3.5 mills, the increase will amount to only 2.5 mills since one mill is being retired in bonded indebtedness and interest.

Teacher salary schedules in Circleville compares a little more favorable at the beginning level, being only about $150 below the state average at the normal college degree level and equal to the masters degree median.

However, at the maximum level of each category, the Circleville schedule falls behind by $700 at the BA and MA levels. The board pointed out that this makes it a little more than difficult to attract or retain experienced teachers.

THE SCHOOL board has been giving annual increases to attempt to keep pace, but other city districts have been increasing much more rapidly. The board stated an inability to keep up can only be attributed to a lack of local money.

"Presently, 85 per cent of the total budget goes for salaries. This leaves a small percentage for all other expenses. Seventy six per cent of the total budget is for teachers' salaries alone," the board spokesmen declared.

As an example of the consequences suffered due to a lack of operating funds, the board described how a school district in Ohio with a slightly poorer position that exists in Circleville now operates on half-day sessions with many facility problems as well.

"Our schools are second to none," the members stated, "and we have faced the facility problem with the new building program. We must now solve our current expense problem and continue to move forward. Any need not met today become greater needs tomorrow.

"Without additional funds we cannot improve our teacher salaries. Even to maintain the present schedule, improvements to our curriculum must be curtailed," members asserted.

"Now is the time to act. Delay always costs more," the school officials emphasized. "The best proof of this is in our recent building program. If we were to attempt the same program today the cost would be at least 15 per cent higher."

Members of the board and Superintendent Fritz Jacobs said further explanation of the current and projected needs of the school district could be obtained by contacting them personally or by telephone.

TWA Plans New Cargo Terminals

NEW YORK (AP) — Trans World Airlines has announced plans to construct a series of fully automated air cargo terminals designed to load and unload a 100-ton capacity jet within a half hour.

TWA said the terminals are planned initially at London, Philadelphia, Detroit and Dayton. The terminals are to be constructed between 1968 and 1970 at major U. S. and European airports, said TWA.

TWA has 20 cargo jets in service or on order, including Boeing's large 727s and still larger 747s. The 747s are designed to haul three times as much cargo as the present Boeing 707.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

This Girl Should Take a Second Look

DEAR ABBY: I am 24 and have been on my own for six years. I'm engaged to be married, and the kind of wedding my fiancé and I want will cost about $1,500. My mother has offered me $200 towards my wedding, which is the amount she gave my sister for her small wedding, which is all it cost, so you can imagine it was pretty crummy. My fiancé says my mother should pay for the kind of wedding we want as she can afford it.

The truth is, my mother and father were divorced and mother is remarried, and she doesn't think her new husband should put on a wedding for ME, and she personally can afford only $200. This is causing trouble between my fiancé and me. He says mother can get the money. What can I say?

SOMEWHERE IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Tell your fiancé that if HE wants to go into hock up to his fetlocks for a fancy wedding, he can finance it because your mother will not. And I would take a good hard look at the man you are planning to marry, dear. Because if this is a sample of his reasoning, you are in for plenty of storms on the sea of matrimony.

DEAR ABBY: Here is a suggestion for parents to help safeguard their daughters during their courting days. First, make a rule that your daughter cannot go out with a young man unless he comes to the house for you to meet.

When he shows up the mother should entertain him while the father goes outside and takes down his license number and a good description of his car. Color, model, etc. During the evening, if the daughter has any trouble with him, she could say, "My father took down your license number and will call the police if I am not home at the time they specified." This is

DEAR DAD: And what happens if Jack The Ripper shows up in a taxi?

DEAR ABBY: I am a freshman in college. I am not a wolf but I like to take a girl out on Saturday nights. I found a real cute and interesting girl in one of my classes. We had a few coffee dates and I finally asked her out for Saturday night. She said she promised her mother she wouldn't single date, but if I got her girl friend a date she would go. I did, and we all had a good time.

I asked her again and it was the same story. I have fixed up four of her girl friends with dates, and I still can't get this girl to date me alone. Do you think she is on the level, or is this the way college girls get dates for their friends?

FIXER UPPER

DEAR FIXER: I know how you could find out in a hurry. Quit fixing up her girl friends, and double date with one of your boy friends and a girl of his choice.

Sharp Rise In Negro Vote Registration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negro registration zoomed up sharply in the South in the last year and probably increased considerably in the country as a whole.

Negro ballots could weigh heavily — perhaps be pivotal — in some of this year's major election contests if a high percentage of registered Negroes vote.

Precise figures on the number of U.S. Negroes qualified to vote are unobtainable because most states do not keep registration figures by races.

The Democratic National Committee uses the figure six million in news releases which have occasion to mention one. This is the same figure it used in 1964.

However, Louis Martin, deputy committee chairman, a Negro who works particularly in this field, says he believes it is actually considerably higher. For the South alone, he estimates the current total at 2.5 million.

The Republican National Committee says it has no current figures.

The Justice Department's civil rights division reports that Negro registration rose from 687,000 to 1,016,800 between Aug. 6, 1965 and last Aug. 6 in these five states: Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina.

"The 1965 date is that on which President Johnson signed the Voting Rights Act of 1965 which permitted the dispatch of federal registrars to states where the attorney general found discrimination to exist.

Aside from actions by federal registrars there has been an increase due to registration drives by civil rights groups.

School Board...

does not become necessary.
The balance maintained in recent years will be depleted to about $25,000 this year. This indicates a need of $70,000 simply to maintain status quo, the educators stated.

Rising utility costs as well as all other supplies and textbooks must be met if the same quality program that the schools now provide is to be continued. Many educational improvements have been made in recent years without additional taxes for current expenses being requested, it was noted.

How does Circleville compare as to available funds with other districts in Ohio and our immediate neighbors? The school board and administration reply: "Frankly, Circleville district dollars have bought considerably more than practically any school district in Ohio."

"To substantiate this statement the following data is submitted: According to the Ohio Education Assn. Research Report of March 1966, Circleville City has $338 of support per pupil. There are only three Ohio city school districts with less dollar support. These are Wellston, Franklin and Fairborn. In our immediate area, the dollar support per pupil is: Chillicothe, $422; Lancaster, $430; Washington C. H., $373; Teays Valley, $394; Logan Elm, $367; and Westfall, $414.

"THE LATEST research indicating actual cost per pupil for current expenses shows that Circleville City spends $313.99. Neighboring districts spend as follows: Chillicothe, $413.83; Lancaster, $383.34; Washington C. H., $345.34; Teays Valley, $401.01; Logan Elm, $404.69; and Westfall, $386.31."

The Circleville City School tax rate of 16.5 mills for operation expenses ranks 151st of 161 city school districts in Ohio. This means, the board said, that only 10 city districts have a lower operating rate. Of these

TWA Plans New Cargo Terminals

NEW YORK (AP) — Trans World Airlines has announced plans to construct a series of fully automated air cargo terminals designed to load and unload a 100-ton capacity jet within a half hour.

TWA said the terminals are planned initially at London, Philadelphia, Detroit and Dayton. The terminals are to be constructed between 1963 and 1970 at major U. S. and European airports, said TWA.

TWA has 20 cargo jets in service or on order, including Boeing's large 727s and still larger 747s. The 747s are designed to haul three times as much cargo as the present Boeing 707.

ten, only one (Logan) has a lower valuation per pupil.

The median or average rate for city school districts is 22.03 in Ohio. With the 3.5 mill increase, Circleville will remain 2.03 mills below the state average for city school districts and will only approach the average for all school districts.

Although the board is asking for an additional 3.5 mills, the increase will amount to only 2.5 mills since one mill is being retired in bonded indebtedness and interest.

Teacher salary schedules in Circleville compares a little more favorable at the beginning level, being only about $150 below the state average at the normal college degree level and equal to the masters degree median.

However, at the maximum level of each category, the Circleville schedule falls behind by $700 at the BA and MA levels. The board pointed out that this makes it a little more than difficult to attract or retain experienced teachers.

THE SCHOOL board has been giving annual increases to attempt to keep pace, but other city districts have been increasing much more rapidly. The board stated an inability to keep up can only be attributed to a lack of local money.

"Presently, 85 per cent of the total budget goes for salaries. This leaves a small percentage for all other expenses. Seventy six per cent of the total budget is for teachers' salaries alone," the board spokesmen declared.

As an example of the consequences suffered due to a lack of operating funds, the board described how a school district in Ohio with a slightly poorer position that exists in Circleville now operates on half-day sessions with many facility problems as well.

"Our schools are second to none," the members stated, "and we have faced the facility problem with the new building program. We must now solve our current expense problem and continue to move forward. Any need not met today become greater needs tomorrow."

"Without additional funds we cannot improve our teacher salaries. Even to maintain the present schedule, improvements to our curriculum must be curtailed," members asserted.

"Now is the time to act. Delay always costs more," the school officials emphasized. "The best proof of this is in our recent building program. If we were to attempt the same program today the cost would be at least 15 per cent higher."

Members of the board and Superintendent Fritz Jacobs said further explanation of the current and projected needs of the school district could be obtained by contacting them personally or by telephone.

Big Bulldozer Fails To Discourage Beaver Activity in Saltcreek Twp.

By STEVE JONES
A colony of beavers is creating a problem for landowners in the prairie area of Saltcreek Twp. near the Pickaway-Ross County line.

The beavers have built their dam in Pike Hole Creek on property owned by Clarence Maxson. If something is not done soon, the barrier will raise havoc with the drainage of some of the best farm-

The determined beavers rebuilt it. After the third time it was cleared out and rebuilt, Maxson decided more stringent methods of disposing of the pesky beavers would be necessary.

He contacted Archer, who in turn notified the Division of Wildlife of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

Archer was informed that it is positively illegal to trap or kill beaver in Pickaway County at any time. About 17 counties in the state have a beaver trapping season, but Pickaway is not one of them.

The Division of Wild Life has in its employ a professional trapper. This man will be sent to the area and an effort will be made to catch the beavers alive.

THEY will then be released on one of the areas where the division is making an effort to propagate the animals.

According to Fred Schob, veteran district law enforcement supervisor with the Division of Wildlife, it is extremely unusual for beaver to be in Pickaway County.

A number of years ago when the late Clarence Francis was county game protector, Schob said some cutting activity thought to have been done by beavers was detected near the mouth of Little Walnut where it empties into the Scioto River.

However, the animals there never made an attempt to build a dam. They apparently lived in burrows.

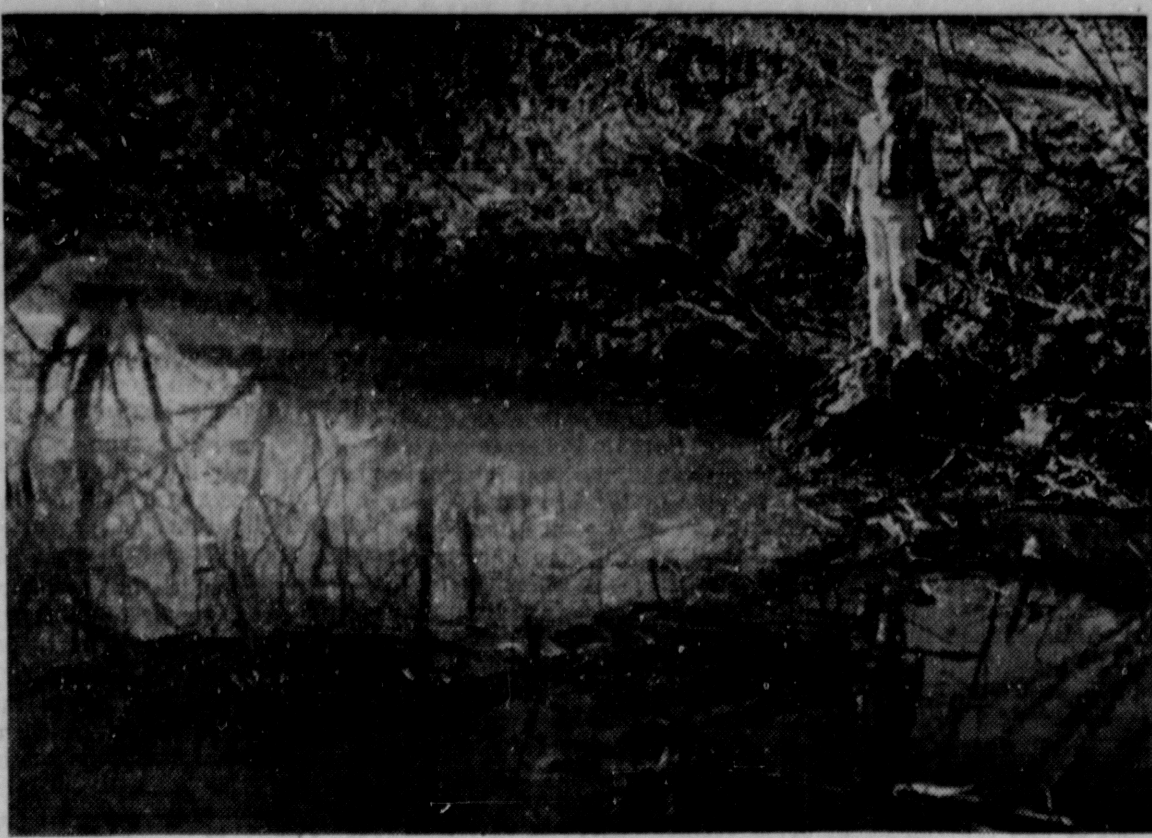

The flat level country where the beavers are building on the Maxson farm is not generally their natural habitat. They prefer the hilly country where there is plenty of timber, according to Schob.

Also in the rougher terrain, they can usually locate a spot where they can build their dam backing up more water with less effort.

ANOTHER colony moved into an area on Turkey Run near Ringgold several years ago but never stayed.

Schob pointed out that the beavers will likely not be discouraged by the bulldozer ripping out their home each day.

Their dams on Pike Hole have been relocated in different positions after being destroyed. Although beavers are not neces-

Grants Announced For Two Ohio Towns
WASHINGTON (AP)—Urban renewal grants for two major Ohio cities were announced Monday by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Youngstown received a $5.1 million grant for its 32-acre Central Business District No. 1 renewal project. Cincinnati received $692,146 to help it prepare a community renewal program.

ing land in the county, according to Don Archer, Pickaway District Soil technician.

The colony was discovered last week when a bulldozer was cleaning out a ditch on Maxson's farm. The operator noted a huge pile of debris clogging the mouth of the drainage ditch where it empties into Pike Hole.

He pushed the debris and brush aside. At that time, Don Maxson, Clarence's son, noted the brush piled in the ditch appeared to have been cut with a hatchet or axe. He at first thought somebody had been deliberately trying to dam the ditch.

THE NEXT morning after it had been pushed aside, the dam was rebuilt. It was then the landowners and the dozer operator began to suspect beavers were responsible for the structure.

It was pushed aside again.

Network executives are constantly making speeches predicting the day when satellites and laser beams will bring pictures directly into home television sets with new and larger screens. They talk about the world events moving directly into the living room. But some of us think cynically about using all this marvelous scientific equipment — to transport a badly chopped-up old movie or a 14th rerun of "Dennis the Menace." Science is wonderful, but programming, very often, is not.

FRESH CUTTING — Not discouraged by the work of a bulldozer that destroyed their habitat on three different occasions, Saltcreek Twp. beavers kept right on working and rebuilding. Here a local youth inspects a freshly cut tree that will be moved downstream by the animals to the dam site.

NEW YORK (AP) — An engineer speaking at a meeting of the American Public Health Association this week complained about "panic and scare" techniques which predict doom 35 years ahead and hint at disasters around the corner.

He was referring specifically to predictions of water and food pollution. Obviously, he could have included some worrisome peeks into the future made recently in television documentaries — air pollution, life on other planets, widespread use of insecticides and more.

The television viewer must be forgiven if he finds it hard to get steamed up about a possible shortage of drinking water in the distant future or an impending traffic jam that could stop everything. His set gives him so many things to "panic and scare" about right now.

White Grocer Wounds Four Negro Youths

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — The white owner of a small grocery in a Negro district said Tuesday he opened fire on 75 to 100 Negroes who were throwing rocks at his store.

Four teen-agers were wounded by small shot from a shotgun Monday night. The store owner, Neil Humphreys, was charged with aggravated assault.

The four Negro youths were treated at a hospital for superficial wounds and released.

Humphreys said the Negroes gathered in front of his store just after dark and began throwing rocks. A plate-glass door was smashed.

"I told the police to hurry and get over or else there would be bloodshed," Humphreys said. He said a sheriff's deputy drove up and talked to the Negroes, mostly youths, and then left.

"Right after the deputy left, they started but they kept right on throwing." He said he grabbed the shotgun and fired.

"Just what would you do to protect your life and property?" he said.

Officers said they didn't know why the teen-agers gathered at the store or what started the rock-throwing. Humphreys said he had been harassed since he opened the store four years ago in the Negro section on Merritt Island, where the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration is building the moonport.

A teen-ager, Willie G. White, said no words were passed before the shot was fired. "He just came outside and the gun did all the talking," White said.

sarily a nocturnal animal, they will work throughout the night rebuilding their structure.

The intelligent little engineers of the wild cut branches and small trees upstream from their dam, never downstream. They fell the trees into the water and float them to the dam.

At this time of year, they are busy cutting and storing shoots and tender branches for food during the winter.

Although a rarity in Pickaway County and desirable in some areas, farmers along Pike Hole will be glad when the animals have been removed by the wildlife department.

THE DAM will back up water in the small creek, which will in turn foul up the internal drainage of several thousand acres of prime corn growing land.

The soil in the prairie when adequately drained, is capable of producing yields of 125 bushels per acre or more. When not drained, it is almost worthless, Archer pointed out.

Is my husband inattentive because of my gray hairs, or is it my tooth paste? Do those tattle-tale wrinkles suggest I'm using the wrong soap?

A lot of viewers by now must have come to the conclusion that if one watches afternoon and late-night movies Ray Milland played the guy who lost the girl in every motion picture made in Hollywood up to 1945 — except the ones in which Renald Reagan lost the girl.

Now, it appears, Tony Curtis has starred in all motion pictures made since World War II, except the ones in which Doris Day starred. This fall has been close to a Tony Curtis-Doris Day festival in prime-time movies.

Network executives are constantly making speeches predicting the day when satellites and laser beams will bring pictures directly into home television sets with new and larger screens. They talk about the world events moving directly into the living room. But some of us think cynically about using all this marvelous scientific equipment — to transport a badly chopped-up old movie or a 14th rerun of "Dennis the Menace." Science is wonderful, but programming, very often, is not.

White Grocer Wounds Four Negro Youths

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — The white owner of a small grocery in a Negro district said Tuesday he opened fire on 75 to 100 Negroes who were throwing rocks at his store.

Four teen-agers were wounded by small shot from a shotgun Monday night. The store owner, Neil Humphreys, was charged with aggravated assault.

The four Negro youths were treated at a hospital for superficial wounds and released.

Humphreys said the Negroes gathered in front of his store just after dark and began throwing rocks. A plate-glass door was smashed.

"I told the police to hurry and get over or else there would be bloodshed," Humphreys said. He said a sheriff's deputy drove up and talked to the Negroes, mostly youths, and then left.

"Right after the deputy left, they started but they kept right on throwing," he said. He grabbed the shotgun and fired.

"Just what would you do to protect your life and property?" he said.

Officers said they didn't know why the teen-agers gathered at the store or what started the rock-throwing. Humphreys said he had been harassed since he opened the store four years ago in the Negro section on Merritt Island, where the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration is building the moon-port.

A teen-ager, Willie G. White, said no words were passed before the shot was fired. "He just came outside and the gun did all the talking," White said.

SKILLED WOODSMEN—Beavers cut small trees and branches upstream from the dam site. This willow tree the animals had started to cut is about five inches in diameter.

ing land in the county, according to Don Archer, Pickaway District Soil technician.

The colony was discovered last week when a bulldozer was cleaning out a ditch on Maxson's farm. The operator noted a huge pile of debris clogging the mouth of the drainage ditch where it empties into Pike Hole.

He pushed the debris and brush aside. At that time, Don Maxson, Clarence's son, noted the brush piled in the ditch appeared to have been cut with a hatchet or axe. He at first thought somebody had been deliberately trying to dam the ditch.

THE NEXT morning after it had been pushed aside, the dam was rebuilt. It was then the landowners and the dozer operator began to suspect beavers were responsible for the structure.

It was pushed aside again.

FRESH CUTTING — Not discouraged by the work of a bulldozer that destroyed their habitat on three different occasions, Saltcreek Twp. beavers kept right on working and rebuilding. Here a local youth inspects a freshly cut tree that will be moved downstream by the animals to the dam site.

Grants Announced For Two Ohio Towns

WASHINGTON (AP)—Urban renewal grants for two major Ohio cities were announced Monday by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Youngstown received a $5.1 million grant for its 32-acre Central Business District No. 1 renewal project. Cincinnati received $692,146 to help it prepare a community renewal program.

Microfilm had one of its biggest jobs in V-mail during World War II. Letters written on a standard form were microfilmed so that scores could be transported by air overseas in space previously needed for one. The Allies delivered about 1.5 billion V-mail letters.

NACD President To Speak At Pickaway SCD Meeting

An annual meeting and election of supervisors of the Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District will be held beginning 6:30 p. m. Nov. 9 in the 4-H and Grange Building at the Fairgrounds.

Principal speaker will be Samuel S. Studebaker of Miami County, president of the National Assn. of Soil and

SAMUEL STUDEBAKER

Water Conservation Districts.
A light lunch will be served. Reservations for the event may be made with the SCS office, 206½ S. Court St., by Friday.

The terms of three members of the board of supervisors expire. The members are Winfred Bidwell, Frank Graves and Chaney Vance. Bidwell is not seeking reelection to his post.

CANDIDATES nominated for the board of directors include the two incumbents, Vance and Graves. Others are Ralph Dunkel, a Circleville Twp. farmer; David McDonald, local tire and appliance dealer; Ray Reiterman, Monroe Twp. farmer; and John Stevenson, Wayne Twp. farmer.

Any owner or occupier of land serviced by the Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District is eligible to vote.

Studebaker is a nationally recognized leader in conservation, farm credit and dairy circles.

In Miami County he operates a dairy farming enterprise of 450 acres. He has a milking herd of 50 Holstein and Jersey cows.

A supervisor of the Miami County Soil and Water Conservation District for more than 18 years, Studebaker was elected president of the National Assn. in 1966. He had served as national vice president since 1962.

Prior to his services as national vice president, he served as a director of NACD from 1960 to 1962. Earlier he had been named vice president of the Ohio Federation of Soil and Water Conservation Districts in 1958 and president of that organization in 1959.

DEEPLY interested in education as well as agriculture, Studebaker was a high school principal and superintendent of schools from 1921 to 1932 and served on his local school board from 1934 to 1948. He was elected to the Miami County School Board in 1932 and served as its vice chairman and chairman through 1960.

A member of the Church of the Brethren, the American Farm Bureau Federation and the Grange, he was an incorporator of the Miami Valley Production Credit Assn. and served as its manager for 11 years. He is a member of the Miami Valley Milk Producers Assn. and of the Farm Credit Board of the Louisville District and chairman of the Miami County Planning Commission.

Studebaker was born in Bethel Twp. in Miami County July 25, 1897. He received bachelor of science degree in agriculture from Ohio State University in 1920.

Don Archer is the work unit conservationist in the local Soil and Water Conservation District.

She'll Sing in Viet Nam For Sons of Old GI Fans

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Frances Langford, whose sentimental songs brought comfort to fighting men in two American wars, is leaving next week to entertain in another one.

She takes off Nov. 12 for Viet Nam, where she will sing her longtime standards — and some rock 'n' roll, too — for the sons of GI's she entertained as part of the Bob Hope troupe in World War II and on her own in Korea. "Oh, I suppose there might be a few of the older officers in Viet Nam who will remember me," she laughed.

Miss Langford came here from her Stuart, Fla., home to polish up her act and get fitted for some slinky new gowns by Edith Head. The singer and her husband, outboard-motor tycoon Ralph Evinrude, also maintain a home in Milwaukee, where his factory is located.

"We have a resort at Stuart, with a restaurant and night club," she explained. "I sing there now and then with Tony Romano, who went on the Hope tours with us, and his cousin, whom he calls Johnny Cuzzins. Vaughn Monroe lives down the road, and Perry Como has a house nearby, and they often drop in for a songfest.

"So I've been able to keep my voice in trim."

The same can be said of her figure. She also retains her languid beauty. She will be joined on the Viet Nam tour by Romano, Cuzzins and dancer Patti Thomas, another veteran of the Hope troupe. "I was told it was better to travel light and with a small company; that way we can get to the outlying areas," she said.

Back in 1942 Miss Langford made her first tour for the troops, visiting bases in Alaska.

In 1943 she went with Hope to England, Africa and Sicily. "That's when we encountered the most danger in our travels," she said. "We were bombed two or three times a night in Africa and Sicily."

The troupe also came near the action during the Pacific tour of 1944. The day after the entertainers appeared on Biak Island, a Japanese sniper was captured. He said he had watched the whole show from a coco palm and enjoyed it very much.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

The first snow of the season arrived in Ohio Tuesday night and today, with accumulations up to 3 inches expected.

Early morning temperatures hovered near the freezing mark over the western half of the state while Cleveland reported 40, Bellaire 36 and Marietta 39.

Little change in temperatures was expected through Thursday with the snow tapering off the flurries Thursday.

Lows tonight will be in the mid 20s in northwestern counties to the mid 30s in the south-east.

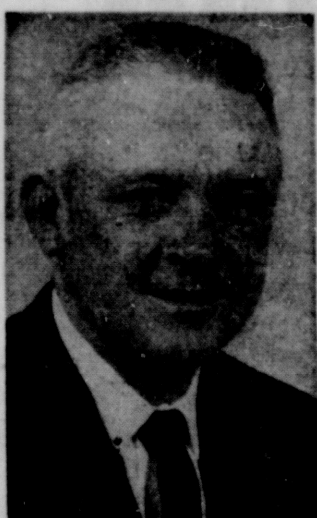

Police Recover Juvenile Loot

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police have recovered most of the $3,500 stolen by a 12-year-old purse snatcher from a 78-year-old widow.

Mrs. Anna M. Babik was walking home from a super market Monday when the boy grabbed the purse and ran.

Police questioned a suspect at an East Side Junior High School Tuesday and then rounded up $1,161 and about $500 in merchandise bought by the youth, his 16-year-old brother and a friend, 14.

Chambermen Endorse Levy, List Seven New Directors

Endorsement of an operating levy for the city school system and the announcement of seven newly elected directors were key agenda items when the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce Board met Tuesday at Pickaway Arms for its November session.

A motion endorsing the 3.5 mill request was unanimously approved following an outline by Superintendent Fritz Jacobs on why the proposal is needed here. The levy will be decided by school district voters at next Tuesday's election.

Jacobs said the levy is essential if the local system hopes to continue its present high level of education. He emphasized that the additional tax levy will amount to 2.5 mills in that one mill is scheduled to be retired in current bond and interest indebtedness.

Elected to serve two-year terms as directors, following a close race conducted by the entire Chamber membership, were: Robert B. Cole, Cole Nursery; George Helwage, Fitzpatrick's Printery; Clare Silkwood, Owens-Illinois; Ward Skinner, Ward's Market; Larry Varble, Ralston Purina; Keith Wagner, General Telephone; and Robert Wilson, American Loan.

THE NEW directors will replace Alden Bray, D. E. Goodchild, Lewis Cook, Robert Mc-Kelvey, Richard Penn, J. Boyd Stout and immediate past president Jack Clifton.

In other business, the board moved to lend full assistance to a "Defensive Driving" course that will be offered in a joint effort by the local Du Pont plant and the Chamber. They authorized the appropriation of $25 to help advertise and promote the project.

The directorship also suggested the possibility of enlisting the aid of local insurance agencies in promoting the program. It was indicated this will be done.

According to Charles Wellman, safety committee chairman, Nov. 25 has been set as the tentative date for the defensive driving course. He said all efforts will be expended to gain wide participation.

Alden Bray of the Airport Committee offered a rundown on progress toward securing an aviation facility in the county. He said current efforts center on establishing a cost estimate in regard to a proposed site in Washington Twp.

Bray, also chairman of the Education Committee, noted that a program calling for mock job interviews with patients from the Veterans Hospital Exit Unit at Chillicothe will be resumed on Nov. 15. He noted that initial planning for next year's Business - Industry - Education Day is scheduled to get under way soon.

ADDITIONAL brief reports were submitted by Roy Huffer Jr. of the Area Development Committee, Ed Frericks of the Congressional Action panel and J. Boyd Stout of the Public Relations unit.

Dr. Robert Liggett, representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce, voiced appreciation to the senior chamber for assistance with Monday night's Halloween Parade and costume judging.

The Circleville Pumpkin Show Committee, Inc., was welcomed as a new Chamber member.

Guest for the luncheon session were Jack Plummer, new manager of the City Loan; Dr.

Passenger Train, Freight Collide

DOVER, N.J. (AP) — An Erie-Lackawanna passenger train collided head-on with a freight train Tuesday killing two persons.

Police said two cars on the passenger train were virtually demolished.

A spokesman at Dover General Hospital said the number of injured was not known immediately.

The accident happened near the South Salem Street bridge in this community of 13,000 about 30 miles west of New York.

The Erie-Lackawanna is the state's most heavily traveled commuter railroad with more than 35,000 passengers daily.

A spokesman for the Erie-Lackawanna said the passenger train, No. 516, left Hoboken at 11:30 a.m. and was due in Dover at 12:45 p.m. The train had four cars.

Hotel capacity in Jordan has doubled in the past two years bringing the number of first class and luxury hotels in Jordan to seven.

Koufax Wins Young Award Third Time

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It is true that Sandy Koufax was not exactly thunderstruck when advised he had won the Cy Young Award for the third time.

Reached at his bachelor's villa Tuesday in suburban Studio City, the superb southpaw was, however, delighted. The vote was unanimous, just as in the previous years by the Baseball Writers of America.

The award as baseball's best pitcher to the Los Angeles Dodgers' hero amounts to an unprecedented event. No hurler had ever won it twice, as did Sandy in 1963 and 1965, much less three times.

"I'm thrilled," said Koufax, who may have been groping for words different from his reactions on the previous award occasions.

Packers, Cards Lead in Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — Defense continues to dominate the National Football League with both Green Bay and St. Louis holding the conference leads because of their ability to throttle the enemy offense.

The Cardinals showed how it is done Monday night when they turned back the Chicago Bears with the help of three interceptions by Larry Wilson.

Green Bay also intercepted three passes in beating Detroit Sunday and maintained their position as the top defensive club in the league. The Packers have allowed an average of 23.5 yards in eight games.

The Packers defense has made 17 interceptions and returned them for 415 yards, tops in the league, and five touchdowns, one short of the NFL record.

May To Manage Tribe Affiliate

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians today named Merrill "Pinkie" May as manager of the Rock Hill, S.C., club, the Tribe's affiliate in the Western Carolina League.

May, a former third baseman with the Philadelphia Phillies, previously managed for Cleveland at Sherbrooke, Selma, Duquesne, Burlington, Keokuk, Reading and Spartansburg. He also managed clubs for the Cincinnati and New York Yankee organizations.

Matt Guokas Jr. of the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association is the son of a member of the league champion Philadelphia Warriors of 1946-47.

Cage Drills Start in Area Schools

Basketball practice started in the Pickaway County Schools yesterday.

Logan Elm coach Keith Merin reports approximately 30 of the original 70 boys who expressed interest in the cage sport appeared at the initial practice session.

When football season ends he anticipates several more candidates. The Logan Elm coach has three starters back from last year's team in Russ Merin, Jim Moorehead and Tom Smith, as well as several other lettermen.

At Westfall, Larry Wilson had 23 candidates for the initial practice session and expects about five more hopefuls when the grid season is completed.

He has only one returning letterman, Delbert Haney.

Warfield Set For Test in Steeler Game

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dub Jones has both arms in top condition again.

The Cleveland Browns' offensive backfield coach was referring to his receivers when he said of Paul Warfield, "it's like regaining use of a left arm." Jones' "right arm" is flanker Gary Collins.

"The last couple of weeks he was the old Paul Warfield," Jones said of the third-year split end from Ohio State.

Warfield, a rookie sensation in the National Football League, sat out most of last season with a broken collarbone.

Warfield, who has 20 catches for 267 yards and an 18.4 average (highest in the receiving corps), said "I don't know if I was rusty after last year's lay-off. You know, I hurt my ankle a while back and that has delayed things."

Jones said he has absolute confidence that "given a man-to-man situation, either Warfield or Collins can shake loose."

Warfield will get a tough test Sunday when the Browns travel to Pittsburgh for a game with the Steelers. He'll be covered by Brady Keys, a defensive back Warfield rates with the best in the NFL.

Stanley Dancer and Del Insko were the first harness drivers to win more than a half million dollars in purses during 1966.

Mike Garrett Candidate for 'AFL Rookie'

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mike Garrett of Kansas City, a great instinctive runner who started on the sandlots of Los Angeles established himself as a top candidate for Rookie of the Year in the American Football League.

At the same time, he is destroying the myth that Heisman Trophy winners can't make good in pro ball. In eight games he has scored six touchdowns, four of them on runs of 79, 77, 61 and 42 yards.

His seven-yard rushing average is best in the AFL and he is the league's No. 4 rusher with 405 yards. He does something no other man in the top 10 rushers is doing — returning kickoffs and punts full time. He also catches passes, throws them well and is an excellent blocker.

"Without doubt, he is most deserving of Rookie of the Year honors," said Coach Hank Stram. "He has made a tremendous contribution."

NFL Defense Nod Goes to Larry Wilson

NEW YORK (AP) — Anybody who watched the St. Louis-Chicago game Monday night knows the Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League has to be Larry Wilson of the Cards' free safety.

The ball-hawking veteran intercepted three passes at critical points in the Cards' 24-17 victory.

It was the sixth straight game in which the seven-year veteran from Utah had intercepted at least one pass. The NFL record is seven, set by Paul Krause of Washington in 1964. Larry tied the lifetime record of five touchdowns on interceptions when he scored for the second time this season in the Bear game.

Jones said he has absolute confidence that "given a man-to-man situation, either Warfield or Collins can shake loose."

Warfield will get a tough test Sunday when the Browns travel to Pittsburgh for a game with the Steelers. He'll be covered by Brady Keys, a defensive back Warfield rates with the best in the NFL.

Teays Valley, Logan Elm End Football Schedules Friday

Two Pickaway County high schools wrap up their football seasons Friday.

Teays Valley hosts Westfall and Logan Elm travels to Paint Valley. It represents the last game of 9th scheduled for the Vikings and the Braves.

Westfall, with an open date two weeks ago, has The Plains of Mt. Sterling remaining on its schedule Nov. 11.

The Mustang Viking tilt is expected to draw a good gate at the TV playing field because of the natural rivalry which exists between the two neighboring schools.

PLAYING a rugged schedule this season, Teays Valley has won two games while losing six. In spite of the losses, both TV wins came in the Metropolitan League where the Marion Waits coached team finished second behind Reynoldsburg, Whitehall and Pleasant View, all of whom were deadlocked for first place.

Westfall, winless this season, finished last in the Scioto Valley Conference.

Two weeks ago, Teays Valley lost defensive safety Fred Patrio who suffered a broken leg. Mike Lombardo, regular offensive end and favorite aerial target of quarterback Bruce Roese, has been slowed with a hand injury.

Paint Valley, Logan Elm's foe this week, has won only one game all season. That win came last week when the Bearcats downed Westfall 36-0.

The Braves have a 4-4 record and will be pointing for a win to give first year coach Jim Butz a winning season in his initial varsity coaching assignment.

A win will give Logan Elm third place in the SVC.

Paul Nyitray Is Mid-Am Back of Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A sophomore who guided Bowling Green to a 17-14 upset over Miami (Ohio) last Saturday is the Mid-American Conference Back of the Week.

He is Paul Nyitray, a product of Toledo Waite High School, who was playing in his first game.

Nyitray completed 13 of 25 passes for 89 yards and sneaked across from the one-yard line with only one minute left to play with the winning touchdown.

"I never had any qualms about using Paul," said BG Coach Bob Gibson. "This is the best victory we've had since I took over."

Nyitray's clutch performance helped snap the Redskins' 12-game winning streak, longest in the nation, as he outplayed Miami's heralded Bruce Matthe.

Defensive tackle Steve Mitchell of Western Michigan won honors as MAC Lineman of the Week for his stellar role in the Broncos' 35-29 victory over Marshall. That triumph put Western in a first place tie with Miami.

Mitchell, a 5-foot-10, 220-pound junior from South Bend, Ind., contributed nine solo tackles against the Thundering Herd and recovered two fumbles that set up a pair of touchdowns.

Western Coach Bill Doolittle said Mitchell was one of five defensive standouts against Marshall.

Other backs nominated included Billy Blunt of Kent State; Jim Boreland of Western; Toledo's John Schneider; Jim Shea of Miami and Bruce Wallace of Marshall.

Linemen considered were Jamie Rivers and Roger Schmidt of Bowling Green; Ernie Ames of Kent; Paul Elzey Toledo; Miami's Ed Philpott and Vic Ferrari of Marshall.

Koufax Wins Young Award Third Time

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It is true that Sandy Koufax was not exactly thunderstruck when advised he had won the Cy Young Award for the third time.

Reached at his bachelor's villa Tuesday in suburban Studio City, the superb southpaw was, however, delighted. The vote was unanimous, just as in the previous years by the Baseball Writers of America.

The award as baseball's best pitcher to the Los Angeles Dodgers' hero amounts to an unprecedented event. No hurler had ever won it twice, as did Sandy in 1963 and 1965, much less three times.

"I'm thrilled," said Koufax, who may have been groping for words different from his reactions on the previous award occasions.

Packers, Cards Lead in Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — Defense continues to dominate the National Football League with both Green Bay and St. Louis holding the conference leads because of their ability to throttle the enemy offense.

The Cardinals showed how it is done Monday night when they turned back the Chicago Bears with the help of three interceptions by Larry Wilson.

Green Bay also intercepted three passes in beating Detroit Sunday and maintained their position as the top defensive club in the league. The Packers have allowed an average of 234.5 yards in eight games.

The Packer defense has made 17 interceptions and returned them for 415 yards, tops in the league, and five touchdowns, one short of the NFL record.

May To Manage Tribe Affiliate

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians today named Merrill "Pinky" May as manager of the Rock Hill, S.C., club, the Tribe's affiliate in the Western Carolina League.

May, a former third baseman with the Philadelphia Phillies, previously managed for Cleveland at Sherbrooke, Selma, Duquesne, Burlington, Keokuk, Reading and Spartansburg. He also managed clubs for the Cincinnati and New York Yankee organizations.

Matt Guokas Jr. of the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association is the son of a member of the league champion Philadelphia Warriors of 1946-47.

Cage Drills Start in Area Schools

Basketball practice started in the Pickaway County Schools yesterday.

Logan Elm coach Keith Merin reports approximately 30 of the original 70 boys who expressed interest in the cage sport appeared at the initial practice session.

When football season ends he anticipates several more candidates. The Logan Elm coach has three starters back from last year's team in Russ Merin, Jim Moorehead and Tom Smith, as well as several other lettermen.

At Westfall, Larry Wilson had 23 candidates for the initial practice session and expects about five more hopefuls when the grid season is completed.

He has only one returning letterman, Delbert Haney.

Warfield Set For Test in Steeler Game

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dub Jones has both arms in top condition again.

The Cleveland Browns' offensive backfield coach was referring to his receivers when he said of Paul Warfield, "it's like regaining use of a left arm."

Jones' "right arm" is flanker Gary Collins.

"The last couple of weeks he was the old Paul Warfield," Jones said of the third-year split end from Ohio State.

Warfield, a rookie sensation in the National Football League, sat out most of last season with a broken collarbone.

Warfield, who has 20 catches for 267 yards and an 18.4 average (highest in the receiving corps), said "I don't know if I was rusty after last year's lay-off. You know, I hurt my ankle a while back and that has delayed things."

Jones said he has absolute confidence that "given a man-to-man situation, either Warfield or Collins can shake loose."

Warfield will get a tough test Sunday when the Browns travel to Pittsburgh for a game with the Steelers. He'll be covered by Brady Keys, a defensive back Warfield rates with the best in the NFL.

Brown Seeks AFL Team for Cincy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — With awarding of the National Football League's 16th franchise to New Orleans, former pro coach Paul Brown set out today to get an American League team for Cincinnati.

And Pete Rozelle, the NFL head boss who will become commissioner of the merged National and American leagues in 1970, indicated Cincinnati has the inside track for the new AFL team, scheduled to begin play in 1968.

Brown, ex-coach of the NFL Cleveland Browns, said in Cleveland Tuesday night that "I believe we can have the franchise for 1968 if assurance is given that a new stadium

(in Cincinnati) will be ready in time," he added.

Brown had sought the NFL franchise for Cincinnati. He and his son, Mike, of Cleveland, were scheduled to arrive here today.

Brown said he and his son "will talk things over with our group and city officials. I hope to be in touch with Pete Rozelle."

Another group that had been seeking the NFL team indicated it also would be interested in an AFL team. That group is headed by John Wiethe, a former University of Cincinnati basketball coach.

Announcement of awarding of the new AFL team is expected soon, Rozelle said Tuesday by telephone from New Orleans.

He said a meeting of both leagues will be held before Thanksgiving "and it's very possible that a decision about the 1968 franchise will be made at that time."

Rozelle indicated Cincinnati may have the inside track, but refused to commit himself, saying "we intend to keep in close touch with your people."

The only city in real competition with Cincinnati is Seattle, "and Seattle voters turned down a stadium two months ago," Rozelle said.

New Orleans Plans Stadium For NFL Club

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The name and owner haven't been decided but New Orleans will have a team in the National Football League when play opens next season.

The NFL franchise was announced here Tuesday by Pete Rozelle, the NFL commissioner. "New Orleans has the population (about 1,053,000), it has the sports interest, it has the weather," said Rozelle. "Geographically it fits into our plans and more important at this time it has the very attractive stadium available for the 1967 season."

The stadium is the $2,500-seat Sugar Bowl at Tulane University.

However, city officials were hoping to construct a domed all-weather sports stadium which would be home to the football club and available for other events.

Construction depends on whether voters in the state approve a constitutional amendment Nov. 8 authorizing the project, which would be paid for by a tax on hotel and motel rooms hereabouts.

Big 10 Rose Bowl Scramble Could Become 7-Team Race

CHICAGO (AP) —Except for the consistency of Michigan State, the current Big Ten football race has to go down as one of the whackiest in history. It could get whackier.

Bogged down by an 11-16 record against nonconference foes and with Michigan State ineligible for the bowl bid because of the no-repeat clause, the Rose Bowl picture remains muddled as ever so far as the Big Ten is concerned.

Purdue and Minnesota, currently running one-two for the bowl bid, "can't afford to look ahead" to their Nov. 12 meeting in their coaches' words.

Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue and Murray Warmath of Minnesota made this clear to the Chicago Football Writers via telephone Tuesday.

Both teams hit the road against improving opponents this week and if both lose, the run for the roses could turn into a seven-team race with two weeks remaining.

Purdue is at Wisconsin and Minnesota at Northwestern.

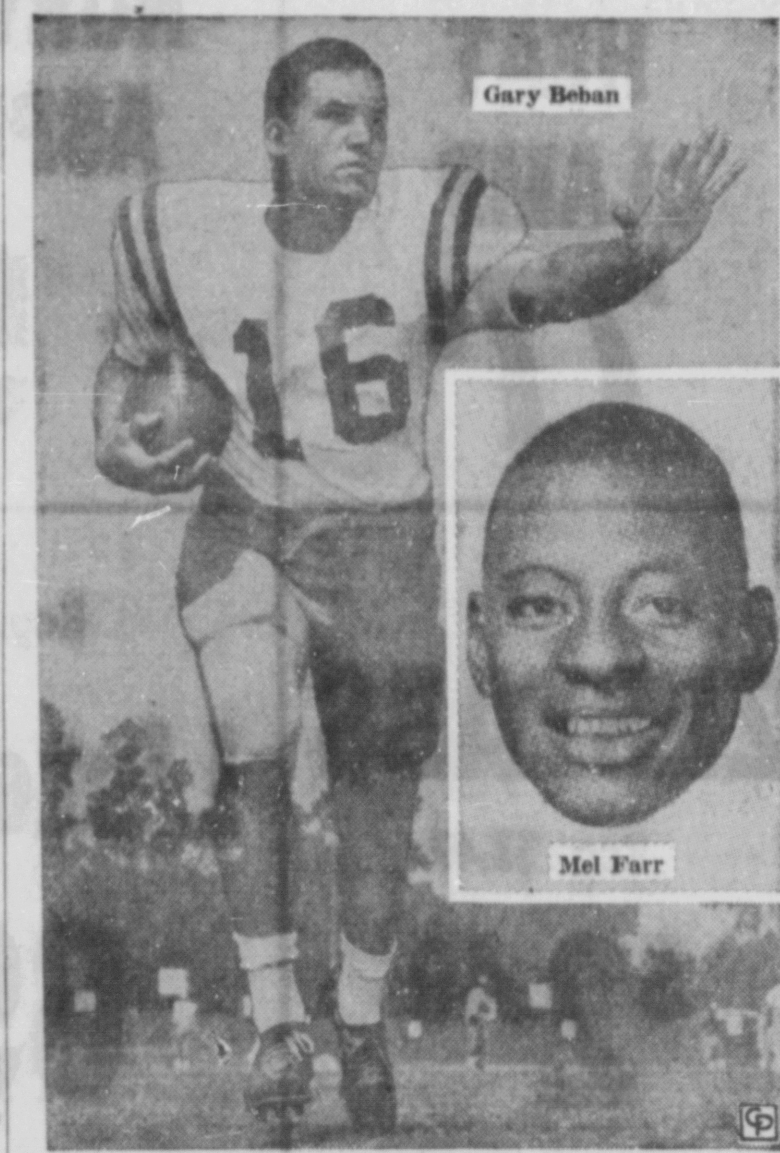

Aside from Michigan State, only Ohio State and Iowa have been mathematically eliminated. Purdue holds the upper hand with a 3-1 record to Minnesota's 2-1-1. The other five teams all have two losses.

Purdue and Minnesota have won two of their last three games.

By contrast, Wisconsin and Northwestern have split even in their last three games. The two teams tied each other 3-3.

If both Minnesota and Purdue win Saturday, they'll get their showdown battle the following week. If both lose, West Coast scouts will have to spread themselves all over the Midwest in the final two games of the season.

BEST OF THE BRUINS—Leading the U.C.L.A. Bruins to another fine season are quarterback Gary Behan, sensational soph of last year, and the dazzling back, Mel Farr. Both are among the nation's leaders in offense.

Guesspert Eyes Comeback after .679 Weekend

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP) — Here's hoping for a quick recovery from the worst weekend of the season with 18 losses among the 56 games that reached a decision for a paltry .679 average.

The forecast for this Saturday's top college football games:

Notre Dame over Pittsburgh: The Irish are awesomely strong, the Panthers woefully weak.

Michigan State over Iowa: The Broadway betting gentry says Michigan State will win by 28 points. The Spartans are that good, too.

UCLA over Washington: Gary Beban of the Bruins rates as one of the three top quarterbacks of the season and the Huskies have no one who can match him.

Alabama over Louisiana State: Ken Stabler and Wayne Trimble give Alabama double protection at quarterback and should keep the Tide on the right track against a team suffering from injuries.

Georgia Tech over Virginia: Could turn into a romp.

Nebraska over Kansas: The Huskers not only are big but they also are fast, agile, talented, determined and very, very good.

Florida over Georgia: Steve Spurrier continues Florida's last-quarter magic at the expense of the once-beaten Bulldogs, whose only defeat was a 7-6 setback in the mud at Miami.

Arkansas over Rice: This is Jess Neely's final year as coach at Rice and the season becomes more sad every Saturday.

Southern California over California: Everybody mentions the Trojan offense but their defense has allowed only 40 points in seven games. California has allowed 143.

Tennessee over Chattanooga: Not in the same league.

Harvard over Princeton: Bobby Leo and Vic Gatto provide the Crimson with the best running attack in the Ivy League.

Miami over Tulane: A rare trip away from home for the Miami team and the boys will show their appreciation with a 10-point triumph.

Purdue over Wisconsin: The Boiler-makers, beaten only by Notre Dame and Michigan State, want that trip to the Rose Bowl. Bob Griese to show them the way.

Syracuse over Penn State: Floyd Little will break loose.

Others:

Bowling Green over Marshall, Xavier over Dayton, Louisville over Kent State, Ohio State over Indiana, Miami, Ohio, over Toledo, Ohio University over Western Michigan.

Link London Red Diplomat With Suspect

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard officers investigating a transatlantic spy ring seized a real estate agent today and charged him with violating Britain's Official Secrets Act.

William Cecil Mulvna, 47, was arrested in an early morning raid on a house at Westcliff on Sea, a resort town 40 miles east of London.

The Official Secrets Act is the law under which spies usually are tried in Britain.

The arrest followed close on the seizure by FBI agents in Los Angeles of German-born Herbert Boeckenhaupt, a U.S. Air Force sergeant accused of conspiring to pass defense secrets to the Russians.

A foreign diplomat in London also was reported under Scotland Yard surveillance as suspected link with Boeckenhaupt.

The diplomat was not identified in published reports, but the Daily Sketch said he works at an Iron Curtain embassy and "will be expelled from Britain in the next few days."

Boeckenhaupt, 23, was arrested by FBI agents in Los Angeles on charges of conspiracy to commit espionage with Aleksey R. Malinin, an assistant commercial counselor at the Soviet Embassy in Washington.

The FBI said Boeckenhaupt wrote a letter in May to an address in England and received a reply in September. It cited this as an "overt act" substantiating its conspiracy charge.

London newspapers said the letter was to an "espionage contact" and was intercepted by British security agents who tipped off the FBI.

Boeckenhaupt dropped out of high school in Superior, Wis., to enlist in the Air Force. He was assigned in 1964 to the Pentagon, where he met Malinin.

The sergeant, communications expert, met secretly with Malinin in June 1965 and April 1966, the FBI reported. The MURFREESBORO, Tenn. (AP) — Gen. Ben Lear Jr., famed World War II officer who stirred national controversy in a prewar disciplinary march between Memphis, Tenn., and Little Rock, Ark., died today. He was 87.

Lear retired from the Army after World War II and moved to Memphis, where he became active in civic affairs. Mrs. Lear had maintained the family home here since her husband was admitted to the hospital in August 1964.

Lear had the reputation of being one of the toughest leaders in the Army. He enlisted in the Army in 1898 and, as a first sergeant, sailed for the Philippines at the age of 19 during the Spanish-American War.

His devotion to discipline led to the celebrated "yoo-hoo" incident in July 1941, while he was in command of the 2nd Army. A motorized regiment returning from maneuvers to Camp Robinson, Ark., drove past a golf course in Memphis, where some shorts-clad girls were playing. The soldiers whistled and shouted "Yoo-hoo!" at the young women.

Lear happened to be playing on the same course. He ordered the regiment to proceed immediately to Camp Robinson — and then ordered the troops back to Memphis, a round-trip of 300 miles. The 325 officers and men had to walk 15 miles of the route under a broiling sun.

There was criticism in Congress and an inquiry into "mass punishment of guilty and innocent alike."

Lear defended his action as necessary to "a high state of discipline."

State Department has asked the Soviet diplomat to leave the United States.

FBI's Hoover Says U.S. 'Wears Yoke of Infamy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Tuesday the United States "wears a yoke of infamy—a yoke made of greed, hate, violence, apathy and lawlessness."

In a message in the FBI's monthly Law Enforcement Bulletin, Hoover assailed demonstrators, the courts and the apathy of many citizens for what he called a "criminalistic burden" that grows heavier from year to year.

"How is the cause of equal justice under law favored by noisy, defiant mobs yelling slogans, denying the free exercise of constitutional rights of other citizens, and turning whole communities into nightmarish jungles of looting, rioting and assault?" he asked.

"Can we seriously consider, even for a moment, that this is the precious right our forefathers referred to as a peaceable assembly to petition the government for a redress of grievances?"

Four Treated, Released Here

Four persons were treated Tuesday in the Emergency Room at Berger Hospital for various injuries.

Alva Boyer, 53, of 140 W. High St., was treated after he received lacerations to his right hand while working.

Charles Sisterman, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sisterman, 213 1/2 W. Ohio St., fell and injured his right arm.

Tom Sark, 21 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sark, 343 Eva Drive, was treated after he fell against a coffee table and received lacerations to his right eye brow.

Violet Parsons, 29, Kingston, lacerated her left hand while working at Lincoln Molded Plastics.

Hoover said also that too many well-meaning "but misguided Americans not only support the doctrine of lawbreaking for a worthy end but also oppose penalties for violators."

In many instances, he said, the question of guilt "is obscured and lost in a maze of procrastinating technicalities and legal jousting. Many times, truth, which often exposes guilt, is only a secondary objective; the main search is for error or a technical loophole for the murderer or hoodlum."

Former Circleville Scouter Attains Coveted Eagle Rank

Hansell N. (Woody) York III, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hansell N. York Jr. of Orange, Tex., received the Eagle Scout award Monday night.

John Harrington, Scout executive of the Sabine Area Council, presented the award. The honor bestowed on York represents the highest level of advancement in scouting activity. Woody entered scouting in December 1963 as a member of Troop 52 of the First Methodist Church of Circleville under scoutmasters Dan Crabtree and George Myers. He served as den chief, assistant patrol leader and patrol leader and advanced to the rank of Life Scout before he transferred to Troop 23 of Jones School in Orange, Tex., in November 1965.

He presently serves Troop 23 as patrol leader and Troop scribe.

THE NEW Eagle Scout is also a member of the Order of the Arrow, scouters' camping honorary group.

To qualify for Eagle Scout, York earned the eleven required merit badges and additional merit badges in scholarship, canoeing, geology, personal finances, coin collecting, stamp collecting, gardening, public speaking, citizenship in the home, forestry, Indian lore, home repairs, pioneering and photography.

Woody is a ninth grade honor student, a member of the football and golf teams, and serves as a ninth grade representative for the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the First Methodist Church of Orange, Tex.

He presently serves Troop 23 as patrol leader and Troop scribe.

THE NEW Eagle Scout is also a member of the Order of the Arrow, scouters' camping honorary group.

To qualify for Eagle Scout, York earned the eleven required merit badges and additional merit badges in scholarship, canoeing, geology, personal finances, coin collecting, stamp collecting, gardening, public speaking, citizenship in the home, forestry, Indian lore, home repairs, pioneering and photography.

Woody is a ninth grade honor student, a member of the football and golf teams, and serves as a ninth grade representative for the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the First Methodist Church of Orange, Tex.
